A Reflection on Sunday's Word Stewarding Time and Honoring Fatherhood

This week's message emphasized the importance of protecting and prioritizing our time, recognizing it as one of the most valuable gifts we have. The enemy often works through distraction and neglect, slowly stealing meaningful moments, especially within our families.

Time is a father's greatest investment. More than providing financially or offering advice, being present and engaged leaves the deepest impact on children. What we give our time to ultimately reflects what we value most.

Fathers were encouraged to be intentional by:

- Building strong relationships
- Showing love and compassion
- Leading and modeling faith
- Being present and engaged in daily life

The message also reminded us of the importance of honoring fathers, even in difficult or imperfect relationships, by choosing respect and forgiveness.

A helpful reminder for godly leadership in the home:

- F – Faith leadership
- A – Availability
- T – Teaching and training
- H – Heart connection
- E – Example
- R – Responsibility

Takeaway:

True legacy is built through consistent presence, intentional love, and how we invest our time in those who matter most.

Journaling Activity

Take a few quiet moments this week to reflect and write:

1. Where am I currently spending most of my time?
List your top daily or weekly priorities.
2. What does my time say about what I value most?
Are there any gaps between your priorities and your values?
3. Who needs more of my time and presence right now?
Consider family, friends, or others God has placed in your life.
4. What is one intentional change I can make this week?
Write one specific way you will be more present (ex: putting away distractions, scheduling time together, engaging more deeply).
5. Legacy Reflection:
"What do I want the people in my life to remember about how I showed up for them?"

Time is one of God's greatest gifts—how we spend it shapes both our relationships and our legacy.
