The Company Staff must agree to abide by the Trade Show Rules & Regulation Listed Below

Key Rules And Regulations

Booth Dimensions And Height: Vendors must stay within their assigned booth space, and display height is often restricted to such a maximum of eight feet.

Fire Safety: Keeping the aisles clear, ensuring fire extinguishers are available, and not blocking emergency exits is crucial.

Noise Levels: Vendors must be mindful of noise levels, especially in busy areas.

Electrical Restrictions: Some shows may restrict the use of vendor-supplied electrical cords or power strips.

Promotional Materials: Permission should be obtained before distributing materials outside the booth area.

Professionalism: Vendors should maintain a professional appearance, be well-mannered, and not engage in disruptive behavior like selling in the aisles

No Soliciting in the Aisles: Vendors are generally prohibited from soliciting business in hallways, doorways, or aisles.

No Pets or Children (unless they are service animals): Many trade shows prohibit pets and children on the show floor.
