PURE SPIRIT

Life changing insight from a Near Death Experience

Are you ready for a deeper spiritual understanding of what you really are?
To embrace the energy of creation, love and wisdom, and how you are connected to it.
What you are about to receive will change the way you look at life forever.

There have been peaceful, happy moments in my life when I was convinced that God was watching over me. But I have also endured many dark and horrific times, feeling certain that God doesn't exist, but the devil sure as hell does!

No doubt you also feel the same emotions and feelings sometimes, we all do.
We all make mistakes, do things we regret, it's part of the human experience.
God knows I have made more mistakes than any person I have ever known!

It was my mistakes that drew me back to God and the teachings of Jesus Christ.
My willingness to accept my faults as a man, opened my mind to understanding that as humans, we have a very limited comprehension of the higher powers in the universe.

However, the more open I was to listening to my soul, to embracing the spirit within and trusting my feelings, as opposed to what I was being told to believe by others, the clearer it became to me that what religion taught of God and the devil, angels and demons, was not was Jesus was trying to teach us at all.

Jesus is the way and the truth and the life, but his legacy has been portrayed incorrectly.

The Christ taught self-realization and mindfulness. He showed humanity how to manifest and create life experience. He demonstrated how to control and rearrange energy to achieve a desired result. His teachings were so universally advanced, so far beyond our intelligence at the time, that humankind misunderstood entirely – until now!

He proved to us that we are source energy - pure spirits embodied in a physical world.

Long after his death, his life and teachings were interpreted into scriptures, forming parts of the Bible and giving rise to Christianity. In today's world, the scriptures are inadvertently translated into the law of attraction, to aid religionists in understanding and relating to the messages that are preached in Churches every week.

Jesus Christ taught us about energy.
The Buddha taught us about energy.
Law of Attraction teaches us about energy.

Everything in the universe comes from energy, and everything we experience in our life is a direct result of energy. It makes no difference what we choose to call it, God, the universe, soul, law of attraction, religion, the devil - it's always energy!

You can have faith and pray to it, you can project a positive mindset and believe it, or you can simply hope and dream that it comes true, but the physical manifestation will always remain the same.

In modern times we are learning, through scientific advancements and evolution, that the previously inexplainable is beginning to look like it may finally be possible to understand and deliberately implement into our own lives.

Some belief systems allow you to shift responsibility for your own mistakes and accept explanations from others who claim to know what is best for you.
Another view, empowers you with the knowledge of your own creative abilities, and to know that nothing is being done to you, without first coming from you.

Billions of people devote their lives to worshipping and praying to their chosen creator in the hope of having their prayers answered. They are unaware that their prayers are projecting positive energy, and their faith in God to provide, is vibrationally aligning this energy with matching universal energy, to form matter and create life experience.

How do you think Jesus performed all those miracles?

He was a total master at manipulating and rearranging energy for a desired result.
He demonstrated to mankind, through his helping of others, how to control energy to create the life we want to experience - You have the same power over your own life!

If you have an open mind to the awesome creative powers of the universe, Pure Spirit will gift you a different perspective of Jesus. It will open your eyes to the true reason for the life of Christ, and show you just how significant his legacy really was.

Never in human history has the mystery of divinity and the great unseen been revealed like this - see you on the other side...

Money doesn't buy happiness - Inner Peace does

The most crucial element for creating a happy life for yourself is inner peace. The number of people who are not content with their life and at peace with themselves is staggering. Without peace you will struggle to be happy, regardless of how much money you make, things you own, places you go, or the company you keep. Your short-term happiness will continue to come and go throughout your lifetime.

When you are in a state of true peace, it's then a natural progression to be happy. When you are peaceful and happy, you will live your life from a place of love - as it's impossible to live any other way. When you project only peaceful, happy and loving energy, your desires will manifest easier. It sounds simple because it is, yet it's fascinating just how many people spend their lives wanting happiness, good health, love and money (especially money), whilst ignoring the key component of inner peace. Ignore peace and you will make life very difficult for yourself.

There are countless teachers of many differing beliefs and faiths, and the majority of them focus on the same core message - Peace, Happiness and Love.
Religion preaches to put your faith in God and or Jesus. Fill your soul with the Lord's peace and love and your prayers will be answered.
Law of Attraction teaches to maintain a constant state of happiness and satisfaction in your life in order to manifest your desires.
Buddhism is focused on peace and contentment to bring you happiness.

Peace, happiness and love are the 3 crucial feelings needed from humans to project positive energy into the universe, but this alone is not enough. We then need to maintain this state of being to remain in vibrational alignment with the equivalent energy the universe sends back. This vibrational alignment will enable the particles of energy to come together and form matter, thus creating our life experience.
The state of being you create from, will always align itself with universal energy that mirrors what you project – every time.

It doesn't matter what your beliefs are and it makes no difference where your faith is. All human creation is derived from matching energy clustering together, which eventually forms matter and delivers life experience - this is how energy works. Knowing this will also allow you to have complete awareness of why unwanted events and people show up in your life.

Most people are aware of the power of positive and negative thinking, but very few have a complete grasp of how and why this affects the self-realization process. Projecting healthy energy from thought, word and action, is crucial to getting what you want out of life, but the core ingredient that is often overlooked is inner peace.

Don't let anybody or anything steal your peace!

You will struggle to be happy, find it hard to love, and it will be impossible to stay in vibrational alignment with the goodness that exists for you to receive.

Getting annoyed over people and circumstances you have no control over will steal your peace and hinder you from getting what you want out of life.

Unhealthy thinking will always draw unwanted occurrences and people to you, and is the leading instigator of physical health problems and mental illness.
It generates and releases poisonous toxins into the bloodstream, damaging organs and inflicting health issues. An unhealthy body will impair the mind and its ability to project healthy energy. It's impossible to create the life you desire under these conditions.
The only person suffering from your self-imposed negativity is you.

Many aspects of human life often call on us to be faithful.
Having faith in the universe, faith in God, faith in our partner, faith that what you're doing is the right thing and everything will prevail and so on. But if your faith is depriving you of inner peace, then you need to reassess what your soul is wanting to experience.
Don't let faith cloud your common sense.

Go within and listen to your GUT feeling – God Uttering Truth.

The universe/God rarely communicates with words - words are deceiving and often dishonest. Its main communication tool are your feelings, feelings don't lie, they are the language of the soul.

When you are on the path of the soul, your mind, body and spirit will work in unison, and you will be at peace. Peace will lead to happiness, and happiness will lead to love. All three combined will align you with the goodness that is ready for you to receive. Achieving this constant state of being will empower you to get what you want out of life.

The most difficult task human beings have set for themselves is to obtain money, happiness and love, all at the same time – sound familiar??

Buddhists have a simpler understanding of happiness than any other faith, because their lives are focused solely on peace and contentment. Happiness comes easier for them because they tend to have little to no interest in money.

For the rest of us however, it's far more difficult, because we sacrifice the best years of our lives to the pursuit of financial security - often doing jobs we hate just to survive. Unfortunately, this usually involves dealing with unhealthy scenarios and allowing people into our life who care only for their own financial interests.
Serving to please the interests of others is often contradictory to what is good for you.

The compounding energy of other humans creating their lives can deprive us of our own peace, which in turn hinders our creative productivity. Dealing with the energy around business and money is rarely conducive to maintaining inner peace.

It's easy to see the conflicting energy we place upon ourselves. Earning money whilst trying to be genuinely happy and loving at the same time can be very difficult.
Little wonder so many relationships and marriages break down around money, let alone the ever-increasing number of those suffering depression and or mental illness.

The human drive to please the material demands of the mind and body, feeds a weight of energy that smothers us in our physical lives and ignores the peace of the soul.
The soul yearns to immerse itself amongst agenda free energy - which is why we need to be on our own occasionally or to spend time with nature to regroup.
This allows the mind and body to return to a peaceful state and realign with the universe - mind, body, soul - thus empowering the creative process to reset itself.

It's obvious why so many people – poor and rich - struggle to find ongoing happiness. The source of their vibration is an energy that gives very little thought to inner peace. Happiness is sacrificed to make money, in the hope that having money, will then deliver the happiness they sacrificed to make the money – it's a crazy world we have created!

The energy that creates the life of fulfillment we long for is sourced from feelings of peace, gratitude, happiness and love - not money and materialism.

Money is a wonderful tool to do good things and it definitely makes life easier, but it doesn't buy happiness - it merely makes a person a bigger version of who they are.

Science and Spirituality

For those who don't believe in God, it's usually because they disagree with religion and its version of a creator. A lack of knowledge of creative energy, has often confused humans as to how and why things happen – personally, globally and environmentally.

To put things into perspective - Earth is merely a speck in an infinite universe.
We are 1 planet around 1 star (Sun), among 400 billion stars, in 1 galaxy, among an estimated 2 trillion galaxies in the part of the universe that science knows of.
There are 20 billion Earth like planets in the Milky Way alone that could harbour life.
To grasp the enormity of this, if you took all the sand from every beach in the world, Earth's scale in the known universe, would be the equivalent of a single grain of sand.
So, we are definitely very small in the grand scheme of the universe – insignificant even.

On this tiny planet, there is a dominant life form called human beings, who can't refrain from harming each other and destroying their own planet over money.
They have a popular belief system which claims that everything good that has ever happened is because of God, and everything bad is the fault of his enemy Satan.

Their understanding of God often differs greatly depending on which part of the world they originate from and or how they were raised as children.
When things happen that a lack of evolution and intelligence can't explain, it is claimed that God works in mysterious ways, and or it is the work of the devil.

This way of thinking was born in ancient times, which clearly lacked the knowledge of energy manifestation and the physics of the universe.

In modern times, as the human species continues to evolve, it could be agreed that God does exist. But an understanding of what it is, could be seen as a vibrational alignment of energy that forms into matter and Grants Our Decisions - God.
As opposed to a single creator who has pre-devised a life plan for each soul on Earth.

Whilst we are advancing at a rapid rate, the human intellect has not yet evolved to the point where it is sufficient to accurately decode the creative process of the universe.

Human beings are a collection of atoms, and we predominantly consist of the same 4 atoms, that just happen to be the most chemically active atoms in the known universe. They are Hydrogen, Oxygen, Carbon and Nitrogen. All the atoms in our being, excluding Hydrogen, were made up in stars and cooked over billions of years.
They were manufactured by thermonuclear fusion, causing the stars to explode and scatter the contents into gas clouds which formed the next generation of star systems/planets, and its inhabiting life forms – in our case, human beings.
This means the universe is literally alive in all of us!

Because we are a species that can think, speak and act, we are a means for which the universe/God can conceive, create and experience itself.
This is why we sometimes feel an undeniable connection to a higher power.
The soul, which never dies, is literally a part of the universe, and the higher powers out there are made up of the same "stuff' as us and connected to the soul.

When you pray to God, or tell the universe how it's going to be, you project a vibration that puts in motion the co-operative components to align themselves and form matter.

Whilst matter can be physically separated, it will always be linked energetically.

When you think, speak and act, for any reason, the energy you project will come together with particles of the matching energy it was once a part of.
When enough of this energy is clustered together, it will form matter, and you will experience this outcome in your life, wanted or not. God - Grants our decisions.

This is how Jesus was able to perform miracles in healing those who asked for his help.

Be aware that energy is forever, it never dies, so your life experience can easily manifest from energy you projected many years earlier and have long since discarded.

The human brain has over 100 billion neurons, and each neuron is connected to 10,000 other neurons. That is a massive amount of creative firepower humans are blessed with, and it can easily work against you when not used knowingly. You can be your own best friend (God) or your own worst enemy (devil) - the choice is always yours.

If the love of God answering prayers can be attributed to the result of positive thinking, what can be said of the devil that so many prefer to blame when things go wrong?
The devil doesn't exist - it's merely a mythical scapegoat that has derived from a zero understanding of negative energy forming matter and its detriment to human lives.

A simple way to understand energy would be to look at man's best friend – the Dog.
Dogs always live in the moment and enjoy life to the fullest.
They don't regret their past mistakes or worry about the future.
They are very easily pleased and live their life from a place of unconditional love.
If we were to live our entire life by these same qualities, we would project a consistent energetic vibration that would enable perfect alignment with its universal counterparts.
Empowering us with an amazing ability to manifest our desires – perform miracles!
Any dog owner can attest to their dog's ability to pick up on their energy, to respond to their moods and emotions, and thus react accordingly to the vibration they receive.
The universe feels and responds to our energetic vibration in much the same way.
Dogs teach us how to create - and show us how sensitive the universe is to our energy.
Could this be the real reason why dog is God spelt backwards?

Mental Abuse – I feel this needs to be addressed.

Mental abuse is far more destructive to quality of human life than most are aware.
It causes the victim to think a lot of messed up thoughts about themselves and others, thus projecting highly damaging energy. Eventually this self-destructive energy becomes thick and dense, which forms matter and manifests into a very painful life.
The universe doesn't play favourites and feel sorry for the victim - it simply responds to the emitting vibrations and delivers more of the same personal torment.
Whilst mental abuse is clearly not physical, the results that manifest from this abuse do become a physical reality (Hell) for the victims and will often ruin their lives.
Especially when a person then resorts to alcohol and or drugs to seek solace.

The Astrophysics and Quantum Physics around energy can be explained in explicit detail by the Physicists who have made it their life's work to discover.
The Law of Attraction aspect has many teachers easily accessible on the internet.
The purpose of Pure Spirit, is to reveal that regardless of the belief system, the universal process of creating the human experience will always remain the same.

Creation and Faith

If creation derives from synchronised energy, and the optimum energy to create with comes from peace, love and joy, then it makes sense that any faith you choose to follow which helps you to reach and maintain this state of being will be beneficial to you.

Law of Attraction. Spirituality. Buddhism. Religion - you name it.
If its soul purpose is to assist and support you in finding peace, happiness and love in your life, then it's on the right path to help you seek vibrational alignment with all the beauty and goodness that exists for you in this universe.

However, like many humans who have the best intentions but are not always correct, so too is religion in their teachings of universal creation. If they had it right, there would not be so many variations of it fuelling constant disagreement and division.
Religion is an attempt to explain life's greatest mystery - and it hasn't succeeded.

This is not an attack on religion - it's about revealing the mystery of how and why our thoughts and feelings, connects the energy that manifests into physical life experience.

I was a Christian for many years. Because I believe in God, I was led to believe that belonging to a Church was what you must do to be a person of faith.

However, many religious beliefs didn't resonate with me - two in particular.

I could never accept the claim that God works in mysterious ways.
This suggests humans lack a true understanding of divinity. That they are unaware of the intention of each individual soul when choosing the human experience. Just because the human mind can't understand, doesn't mean the soul isn't fully aware.

I also found the concept of blaming the devil to make no sense at all.
When you understand the embodied spirit that we really are, and how the creative process works, it's not possible to entertain the notion of the enemy attacking you.

I felt the human race had not yet evolved enough intellectually to comprehend the reality of higher powers and how they affect our lives. That what stood true for religious doctrines here on earth, was not how things really were with an infinite universe.

I was always drawn to the concept of energy and the law of attraction - positive thinking versus negative. I had growing conflictions between God the creator and creating by the laws of attraction - divine intervention or enlightened mindfulness?

Which one is true - could it possibly be both - how does it all really work???

I developed a keen interest in researching Astrophysics and Quantum Physics - Quantum entanglement in particular had me deeply intrigued.

As a spiritual man, I found it fascinating that whilst science and spirituality were regarded as polar opposites, I could see they both complimented each other perfectly. I saw science as opening the door to spiritual enlightenment, to unravelling the infinite possibilities which spirituality readily embraced.

After asking God/the universe for answers for most of my life, it was finally revealed to me when I was open to accept it. God and the devil, the law of attraction, spirituality, mindfulness, it was all the same underlying principle - everything equated to energy! The quality of all human life, or lack thereof, is entirely dependent on universal energy. Projecting specific energy for a particular result was the key to both happiness and misery. Vibrational alignment was critical to creating the life we desire – it's that simple.

When you pray to God – you are sending positive energy out into the universe and attempting to align yourself with its vibrational counterparts.

When you have faith God will provide – you release vibrational resistance and obtain a total knowing of the assured outcome - knowing leads to experience.

When you do this with God's peace and love – you are giving yourself the best possible chance for your projected energy to synchronise with its matching universal energy.

When God answers prayers and delivers a miracle – energetic particles have joined together to form matter, and your desire has manifested into physical life experience.

When all of this comes together the circle of creation is complete, and the universe/God, has experienced itself through you!

The problem isn't trying to convince others that there is or isn't a God, or arguing over who is right and who is wrong. The problem is an ignorance of a far greater intelligence than ours, and the lack of understanding of what "God" really is.

What of the presence of Godly energy we sometimes feel - how do we explain that?

When entering a holy place, people tend to feel a beautiful, surreal energy.
An undeniable spiritual presence that can only be understood with feelings and rarely expressed with words. Even those who do not believe in the existence of God will openly admit to feeling something special in these places – how do we explain this?

When you enter, you are instantly immersed in the peaceful, loving energy of the countless others who have come before you. Energy that has aligned with its universal counterparts and expanded into thick, dense energy which has compounded over time. The misconception is not in the presence of God, but in the comprehension of God.

An energetic alignment that manifests into matter and Grants our decisions - God!

Translating Scriptures into the Law of Attraction

When Church leaders preach scriptures, they are also inadvertently, acknowledging the principles of the law of attraction. We can take any scripture from the New Testament Bible and easily translate it into the law of attraction - every time.

I searched for the 10 most downloaded scriptures. Below are the results from the world's most popular bible app - YouVersion - translated into the law of attraction.

Romans 12:2

"Do not conform to the pattern of this world but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. Then you will be able to test and approve what God's will is – his good, pleasing and perfect will"

Don't get caught up in the energy of others - don't let anybody steal your peace.
Focus on your own vibration and project positive energy.
Release resistance to align yourself with all that is good in the universe.

Philippians 4:8

"Finally brothers and sisters, whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable – if anything is excellent or praiseworthy – think about such things"

Project positive energy - think only good thoughts about yourself, others and the world around you. Think only satisfying thoughts and cause yourself to feel good.
The universe will continue to send you more to satisfy and please you.

Philippians 4:6

"Do not be anxious about anything, but in every situation, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God"

Don't stress, just chill out and know the universe will provide for you.
Be grateful in advance knowing the outcome is assured.
The universe never says no to your thought about yourself - it grows it.

Jeremiah 29:11

"For I know the plans I have for you, "declares the Lord," plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future"

The universe wants for you, what you want for you – nothing more and nothing less.
You have been given all the tools you need to create the life you desire.

Proverbs 3:5

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your understanding"

Knowing leads to experience – when you expect something it will come.

Mathew 6:33
"But seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well"

When you are being peace, happiness and love (Gods kingdom) your ability to create what you want is phenomenal - you really can be, do or have anything.

Philippians 4:7
"And the peace of God which transcends all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus"

Inner peace is the key to a happy life. Peace - leads to happiness - leads to love.
Jesus was a master creator - he showed humanity how to create and demonstrated that life is all about the soul and everything comes from energy.

Isaiah 41:10
"So do not fear, for I am with you; do not be dismayed, for I am your God. I will strengthen you and help you; I will uphold you with my righteous right hand"

You attract what you fear. You underestimate your own creative abilities.
This non-physical vibrational version of you, is who you really are – Pure Spirit.
The energy that creates worlds is flowing through you.

Mathew 6:34
"Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own"

Worrying is a negative emotion. It will project negative energy into the universe and have a detrimental effect to your vibrational alignment. Find pleasure in the here and now to emit a vibration that matches your desire, instead of a vibration that keeps matching what you don't want.

Proverbs 3:6
"In all your ways submit to him and he will make your paths straight"

God - peace, love and joy - is the ultimate vibration to which you seek alignment.

Any scripture can easily be deciphered into the law of attraction!

Church leaders unintentionally do this every week, to help religionists understand and relate to its messages. It could be said that scriptures are teaching the law of attraction in verbiage that was commonly understood during ancient times.
Regardless, the belief system makes absolutely no difference to manifestation.
Creation always comes back to self-realization, mindfulness and energetic alignment.

The Life of Jesus Christ

The life and legacy of Jesus should now make sense to all of humanity!

The Christian religion is based around the life and teachings of Jesus Christ.

He was crucified on the cross to carry the burden of human sin.
All human beings are natural born sinners, and the only way they can be saved from their sin is to devote their lives to God the father - through his only son, Jesus.
If you do not submit to God and obey him, you will be attacked by his enemy Satan.
When you die you will be denied heaven - you will go to hell for eternal damnation.

This way of thinking and looking at life, would not hold any merit in today's world if it were to be unveiled for the first time tomorrow.

The crucifixion of Jesus did happen - there is no disputing this - it's historical fact.
What's incorrect is how his life and teachings have been conveyed to humanity.
Given that humans are only just now beginning to advance to an intellectual level that is capable of comprehending the workings of the universe, it makes sense that his life has been misinterpreted up to this point.

We are all born sinners, it's true, but definitely not in the way religion has told us.
The belief that all humans inherit a sinful nature to commit immoral acts, and we all fall short of God's standard, unless we seek salvation through Jesus, is a false teaching.

The life of Christ was not to live and die to carry the burden of human sin.
His legacy was to deliver salvation to self-realization, by showing us how to avoid the self-imposed sin that prevents the soul from the full glory of the human experience.

The sinful nature of a human being is to commit negativity and self-sabotage.
To think, speak and act negatively. To project negative energy into the universe which has a detrimental effect on the quality of not only our own lives, but also the people around us and our entire planet - that is our sin!

Jesus taught love, power and acceptance - not fear, dependence and intolerance.

He proved to us that all creation - good and bad - derives from energy.
He demonstrated this repeatedly with the myriad of miracles he performed.
His ability to manipulate and rearrange energy for a chosen result was masterful.
"Look at what I can do, look at what is true, and know that these things and more shall you also do. For have I not said ye are gods? Yet you do not believe. If you cannot then believe in yourself, believe in me"

He taught us that we are all gifted with the same divine abilities to manifest human experience through thought, word and deed - made in the image and likeness of God.

He then created a way to impact the world for millenniums to come.
He allowed himself to be falsely convicted and brutally murdered, whilst showing his oppressors only forgiveness, compassion and unconditional love.

During his life and death, he projected peace, happiness and love, without judgement. He showed us how to live, in order to align our vibration with matching universal energy.

Finally, his most important gift to humanity was to rise from the dead 3 days after his crucifixion. He proved to us that life is eternal and we are literally pure spirit - our Soul.

The legacy of the Christ was not to give your life to him – it was to live your life like him! Jesus was the epitome of how human beings should live their lives in order to create the life they desire – he really was our saviour!

Can you imagine how different the world would be today if the population lived by his example?? Clearly very few people do - we can't even stop doing wrong by each other and destroying our own planet – and it's usually for financial gain!

Any representation of Jesus and God which includes punishment, retribution, damnation and the devil, is a clear lack of knowledge of the powerful impact negative energy can often have on the human experience.

I raise this…

God created us with the free will to do as we please, but if we do not obey what he commands of us, we will be subjected to his wrath.
The only way to avoid this is to put our life in the hands of his only son Jesus.
If we seek God's forgiveness for our sins through Jesus, we will be forgiven for the sins that God himself allowed us to commit when he created us with free will and choice.
So, God the father, sent us his son to save us from the mistakes that he made??

How the life of Jesus Christ has evolved into such a misguided concept is baffling. Perhaps it was simply a lack of human evolution, and the intellectual insight needed to comprehend the connection of his spiritual teachings with the physics of the universe.

You don't need to submit to deity to forgive you for your sins - you simply need to forgive yourself for your own mistakes.

What has happened previously in your life is all past tense energetically.
By not forgiving yourself, you continue to beat the drum of what was, instead of what you desire. You continue to send energy that represents your past, so you keep reliving it. If this goes on long enough the energy becomes very dense and "S*atan"* will continue to attack you, making your life a living hell for the mind, body and soul.

Your past does not determine your future unless you keep creating it that way!

You need to forgive yourself and love yourself, as you are your main point of attraction. This will give you peace and change your vibration. This new vibration will synchronise with matching energy and you will eventually begin to experience the outcome of this. A positive energetic alignment that will continue to expand and alter your life.

For so many people, the belief that God has forgiven them for their sins is what allows for the psychological mindset to forgive themselves for their own mistakes.
Thus, entering into the God space of peace, love and joy – God's kingdom.
This new state of being lacks resistance – which answers prayers and delivers miracles.

Religion can be appealing because it removes an element of creative responsibility. If one can place their life in God's hands (good energy) and blame the devil (bad energy) for their mistakes, it removes the burden of the constant thought monitoring and decision making required for deliberate creation.

If you prefer to blame the devil and claim you are under attack when things go wrong in your life, you literally lack an understanding of your own creative power.
We all have the creative capabilities to become our own worst enemy.

Negative energy will always omit a detrimental vibration, and a continuation of this projected vibration will eventually draw its matching self-destructive energy back into your physical life experience – every time.

The devil is nothing but an ancient world attempt to explain things unwanted.
De-vi-l - Destructive Vibrations Linger and will bring you misfortune.
This is the devil, and whilst it is just an acronym I created, it's a far more accurate explanation of the effects of negative energy than the mythical scapegoat that was created by human beings who lived thousands of years ago.

Christians are right to worship and follow Jesus, but they have mistaken his legacy. He is the way and the truth and the life – absolutely. The way to manifest desires, the truth about what you really are, and the ultimate example of how to live your life.

Let me ask you this - what makes the most logical sense to you?
Giving your life to Jesus - as per scriptures that were written thousands of years ago?
Or living your life like Jesus - harnessing today's knowledge of manifesting and your energetic connection to the universe/God – made in its image and likeness.

I don't claim to have all the answers, and God could always remain a mystery to us. At least now we are finally bridging the gap between historical religious teachings and modern energetic principles, to see that they are both ultimately one and the same.

Who knows, maybe one day, the entire planet could be living by the legacy of Christ. Imagine how beautiful the world would be if that were to happen. 😊

We Are All One

When we hear the term a man or woman of God, we tend to assume a religious person devoted to doing God's work, to delivering the message of God.
This is not entirely accurate, because religionists are merely people of a belief system, worshiping what they believe to be God. Adhering to the scriptures of those beliefs, and delivering doctrines that guide their chosen faith.

Every human being is a spirit of God, made in its image and likeness, whether we accept it or not, we can't not be. We are comprised of the exact same atoms that make up a large part of the universe. So, the universe is literally alive in all of us, we are our soul, source energy, pure loving spirit – we are all one.

Every person is a soul that has chosen to experience a physical life on Earth.
But when the soul feels that it can no longer continue to evolve in its body, or when it decides it just wants out of its human confines, it will make the transition from the relative world of humanity, back to the spirit realm of the absolute.

It will return home to love. A realm of love so deep and accepting, and a peace so tranquil, it's impossible for the human mind to comprehend. A place completely free of judgement and punishment, where human behaviours and problems do not exist.

Why do I believe this? In 2014 I had a Near-Death Experience. It took me many years to come to terms with this, with what I saw and felt. But I always understood it to be a very fortunate experience, that gave me incredible insight into the other side, and put me on the path to share this knowledge with you. I contemplated sharing what happened to me that day, but chose not to. Deciding that something so personal to me, was not to satisfy curiosities and allow others to judge if I am worthy to speak of these truths now.

Pure Spirit is about sharing what I know with you, so you can improve your own life experiences - if you choose to. But don't take my word for it, in fact, don't believe a word I have written, just go ahead and test it all out for yourself. Do your best to base every thought, every word, every decision and every action around peace, love, gratitude and happiness. Try it yourself, see how different you feel and how much your life improves. And ask yourself this - can you honestly think of a better way to live your life??

This is a wakeup call to conscious living, to self-realization, to remembering what you really are, long before the problems and realities of human life caused you to forget.
To acknowledging your own creative power and your God given abilities to manifest.

And as you experience this life, making choices and making mistakes, hurting, loving, laughing, crying, be kind to yourself and to others, as it's not easy to be a human being.

Because after all, this is not reality - the other side is reality.

In closing,

After my NDE, and the revelation that later followed, my insight of belief systems, energy manifestation, and the life of Jesus, was like nothing I had known before. I couldn't find any material that shared my views, and because I no longer read the Bible, I decided to write Pure Spirit for myself – it became my own personal daily read. After sharing it with friends, who all encouraged me to share it with everybody, I chose to build the website and make it available to the world for free – I'm happy I did. 😊

I hope you got something out of Pure Spirit, and will choose to use it as a frequent tool to help you create the life you desire for yourself, your family and your friends. I would love to help 1 million people, live a peaceful, happy life – it's that simple. And for each one of those to help 2 others experience the same, and so on and so on. Maybe together, we can help make a difference in the world - one soul at a time. So please, I encourage you to send the Pure Spirit website link to anybody you choose.

If you enjoyed this and would like to show your appreciation, it would be very kind. I added the thank you option on the website for those of you who would like to express their gratitude for sharing with them – purespirit.energy

Thank you for taking the time to read Pure Sirit - I hope you feel better for it.

Peacefully,

Johnny Glover
