Member Spotlight: Katie Justice

My name is Katie Justice and I'm proud to work on the Board of Directors for WTPC. My riding journey began when I was just six years old, and over the years, I've ridden everything from western pleasure to hunter jumpers. I've even tried my hand at ranch bronc riding with the WRBC. I've always had a passion for horses, regardless of discipline. I discovered the excitement of cow horses in 2020 after purchasing Ted, my big bay gelding. Before getting into sorting, I won my first buckles cutting with the Cuttin' Loose Club of Washington. From there, I gave sorting a try and I was hooked.

I spent my first few years with WTPC riding Ted, with great success in the Green Novice Penning classes. More recently, I've been bringing along my second gelding "Hearth Throb" better known as "Robbie" in the arena. It has been so much fun watching him grow in the sport while challenging myself on a different caliber of horse. Ted can still be seen in the arena with the kids at the barn where I board, Pacific Northwest Equestrian Center. It fills my heart with pride to watch him create a new generation of cow horse crazy kids who will carry on the legacy of this sport. Outside the arena, I'm an electrician by trade. I currently drive a service van and run jobs as a Foreman for Valley Electric, one of our club's sponsors.

When I'm not working or riding, my four pugs, Gracie, Desi, Vinnie, and Rody, certainly keep me busy at home. It's been such a fun season getting to know all of you and ride alongside you. It's an honor to help put these shows together and to nurture our shared passion for competition. - Katie
