So, Level Two is a little more complex. This time you've only got the outlines of some of the drawings. Each has been printed lightly for you to sketch over. As for the others, they've just been given an outer silhouette, and you have to fill in all the missing bits to complete the picture. Once you're done sketching, color it in to bring your illustration to life. Go on - you can do it!

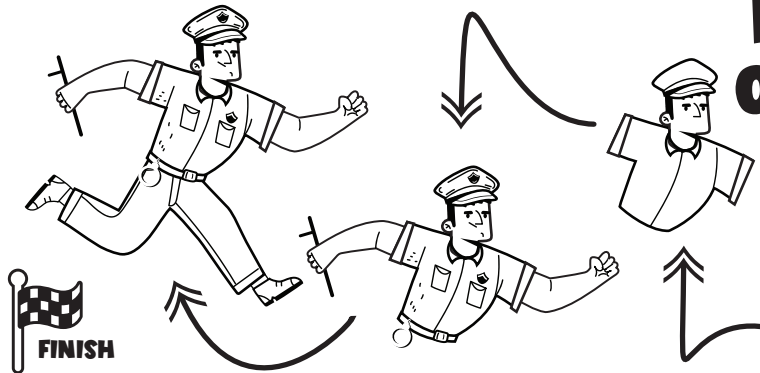

Engines thundered as five monster trucks roared over the rocky terrain, tires kicking up dust and debris. The winner, a massive black and green beast crushed a boulder beneath its giant wheels. Standing proudly beside it was Jake, the driver, grinning as he admired his ultimate machine. The other trucks weren't far behind, leaping over ramps and skidding around turns. "We showed them who's king of the course!" Jake smirked, climbing into the driver's seat. With a deafening VROOM, he hit the gas, ready to make his victory lap!
