

Paco's Possumhaw Holly

Ilex decidua 'Paco's'

A single or multi-trunked native, small ornamental tree where the female is covered with showy, bright red berries all fall, winter & early spring. As the berries age going into spring, their color changes to a red-orange & will soon be devoured by several species of birds. Paco's is a female selection – drought tolerant yet will also take periodic wet conditions. Grows to about 18' tall. Sun or part shade. Deciduous, but the berries cover the bare branches all winter long.
