

Salicifolia Beautyberry

Callicarpa salicifolia

A very unique beautyberry with a loose, airy & delicate growth habit. Shiny green foliage. Mid summer through fall it is covered with clusters of light pink flowers which the bees love. It flowers more than any beautyberry we've ever grown. And wait until the berry clusters appear – an absolutely crazy amount of gorgeous purple fruit all winter long! Salicifolia can reach 8' tall. Keep trimmed back for a bushier growth habit. It can handle a good deal of sun even in our hot summers, but will also grow well in part sun and shade.
