

Gateway Joe Pye Weed

Eupatorium maculatum 'Gateway'

A compact version of this butterfly favorite, 'Gateway' is an erect clump-forming perennial that grows 4'-5' tall. In mid to late summer it explodes with large bright mauve-pink flower clusters on deep wine red stems. The flowers give way to attractive seed heads which add interest to winter gardens. Sun or part shade and moist, well drained soil. Butterflies!