

Heidi Sheesley of TreeSearch Farms

White Butterfly Ginger

Hedychium coronarium

The most fragrant of them all! Clusters of fragrant white flowers resemble butterflies atop 6' stems. Makes a wonderful cut flower. Can freeze to the ground but will return in late spring. Grows well in containers, & at the margins of ponds. Bright shade to full sun if well watered. Keep bloom stalks cut to the ground after the flowers fade to encourage more blooms.