

Pine Muhly

Muhlenbergia dubia

This small-scale architectural gem has a finely cut impeccably shaped green mound. Pine Muhly's dense mostly evergreen clump of upright narrow cylindrical blades bolsters slim almond-colored plumes on rigid, 2 to 3 ft. tall skinny stems. Muhlenbergia dubia is undaunted by heat and drought, enjoys well drained sites and brings untold elegance to containers, mass plantings or a tight spot. Blooms August – October. 2'-3' x 2'-3'
