

Guayacan

Guaiacum coulteri

Gorgeous, violet-purple flowers appear in early spring. May re-bloom after a period of moisture. Drought tolerant once established and must have well-drained soil.

Native to the Southern Plains and Mexico, this beautiful evergreen native can be trained as a shrub or small tree 8' – 10' in height.