

Lowery's "Fuzzy-leafed" Hummingbird Bush

Hamelia sp. 'Lowery'

This fuzzy leafed hamelia is quickly becoming one of our favorites! It came back strong after a very cold winter, has a tight growth habit and blooms non-stop starting in early spring. Flower clusters are bright orangeish-red and are loved by butterflies and hummingbirds. Plant in full sun with good drainage. Nice for coastal gardens because of its salt tolerance. Will die to the ground in a hard freeze, but is root hardy. 4'x 4'.
