

Jamaican Mint Tree

Satureja viminea

Satureja (which means savory) viminea is a large shrub with strongly scented mint leaves – its lime green foliage can match any spearmint for potency, and yet it is not saddled with mint's aggressive nature. Frost sensitive, but it grows quite vigorously in one season & can be moved indoors. The fragrance is intense and pure; and, the plant is used for making a famous Kama Sutra Mint Tree Bathing Gel. A very rare plant! It can be pruned into a small tree – may reach 6'-7' in height – it has woody stems and an upright growth habit. Full sun. Protect from frosts and freezes, or replant each season.
