

Cowpen Daisy

Verbesina encelioides

Bordered Patch Butterfly

Cowpen Daisy has become one of our favorite native butterfly host & nectar plants. Underused yet so easy to grow, drought tolerant, a fantastic nectar source for many kinds of butterflies; and, the host plant to the Bordered Patch butterfly. Untrimmed, you can allow Cowpen to grow bush-like – 5' x 3' across; or, keep it tidy with trimming. Re-seeds. Grows in almost any soil. Blooms bright yellow daisies spring through fall.
