044	Kingston Trio	"Scotch And Soda"	#81/1962	A-side. Recorded in 1958 and first released on the album The Kingston Trio . Scotch And Soda was discovered by the Kingston Trio through the parents of the baseball player Tom Seaver, who had first heard it in a hotel piano lounge in 1932 when on their honeymoon in Phoenix, Arizona. They liked it so much that they had the piano player write it down for them so it would be "their song." Dave Guard was dating Seaver's older sister Katie at that time, and heard the song on a visit to the Seaver home. Although it is credited to Guard he had it copyrighted in his name on March 30, 1959, the Kingston Trio never discovered the real songwriter's name, though they searched for years,
