Colorado Autism Consultants
Early intervention program for children up to age 6

First Steps

- Early Intervention - up through age 6
- 5 days per week - mornings, afternoons, or full day depending on individual child and their specific needs and goals

Teaching methods are based on the science of Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) - a set of proven techniques and strategies to help to jumpstart learning, while creating a fun, rewarding, and engaging environment.

ABA is widely considered the gold standard of treatment for autism and developmental delays, proven to effectively increase language and communication, social interactions, play skills, daily living skills and learner readiness, while reducing and replacing challenging behaviors that can impede learning.

Science is clear that ABA therapy during the early intervention years has a significant positive impact on a child's brain development, and that ABA therapy received early in life results in more positive outcomes across the lifespan.

Colorado Autism Consultants is launching an early intervention program called First Steps, designed specifically for children up through age 6, aimed at increased learning in a fun and engaging environment during these critical years. Children will all be staffed with a one-to-one clinician in order to make the most of every learning opportunity.

We are accepting applications for clients age 6 and under. This program will be offered as a 5 day per week program, with a choice of attending a half-day morning program, a half-day afternoon program, or a full-day program, depending on your individual child's goals and needs.
