(this question is simply acknowledging the reality that the world has changed a lot since May...there is no right answer except the one that feels right for you)	If you answered "Yes" above, please indicate all the potential regular meeting times that your schedule could accommodate.	Of the potential regular meeting times, please select the ONE time that you prefer more than others.	Have you changed your location or position in the district since last May?	If you answered "Yes" above, please describe your new location and/or position.	We'll be using the book "Tell Me Who You Are" to guide our collaboration this year. Please let me know which of the following best describes your relationship with the book thus far.	After reviewing the feedback from our May meeting (shared via link in the email invitation to complete this survey), please offer any additional areas of interest, trepidation, learning, and/or action, as well as any additional questions you might have related to our learning and action as a team. I'm interested in continuing to increase my level of awareness and understanding around equity in my life and especially in my school.	My one-year-old learning to share food with me.

I'm very curious what are role is/will be. Also, What reading should I have completed before our 9/10 meeting? (I haven't opened the book, mostly because I like to have a sense of what I'm reading for going in.	my dogs

After doing the Safe Schools training, I am worried our team will continue to fight an uphill battle against white-centered ABAR work. Still reflecting on how to balance knowing our kids don't have time to wait for us to be comfortable, while also knowing that pushing too much, too fast scares people away. That being said, I was VERY excited about the work being done in the early-learning sphere. Our two-day conference this summer was very rooted in anti-bias work and read some great books. So that was fabulous!	I got an email from a mom yesterday saying her son was excited to be in my class because "the Alexa on his Echo Dot is basically his best friend." That cracked me up!
9/1/2020 8:04:16	wendy_courogen@beaverton.k12.or.us	Fantastic!	Yes	4:00-6:00, 4:30-6:30, 5:00-7:00, 5:30-7:30, 6:00-8:00	4:00-6:00	No		I got it and flipped through the pages.	I would LOVE guidance on how to interrupt biased/racist conversation. I would also love to learn how to address specific biases like "well black people are the ones committing crimes so of course they get pulled over more frequently." I've been confronted with these comments lately and I don't know how to respond.	My summer trip to Chicago and seeing my bf there.

I am feeling nervous that there is so much put on teachers, admin, schools right now. How do we make ABAR work a priority in these times? I am also worried that admin and district level staff (or even some teachers if they seek it out) will receive high quality ABAR PD and this will be watered down into a week long canned curriculum for teachers. How do we make this work equitable for staff, too?	Sunshine-filled dog walks!

Area of interest: how do we make sure that all our kids have access and are engaged in school this year! What supports do some families need? What teaching practices need to change/happen? I'm worried about some kids not doing school this year in remote learning. Are we doing all we can or what can we change as a district to engage students? Maybe this isn't for this group, but its on my mind:)	I won Blockus against my family!
