From the Editor

Huge congratulations to everyone who has made it into IE100 spring/summer edition.

We, here at IE100, are hopeful that we see an end to the conflict between Israel and Palestine and the war in Ukraine. One might question if we can find any positives at all, but as the entries to the IE100 have shown, no matter what the world throws at us we're becoming better people and stronger businesses.

About the IE100 Awards

We launched the IE100 Awards to recognise and rank the brightest from across the globe. We strive to ensure the IE100 Awards have the credibility to reward and recognise global entrepreneurs. We've seen the winners demonstrate incredible achievements, and they'll be able to use the IE100 accreditation to show the world what they're made of.

Recognition for their efforts

Making the list in the IE100 is truly an achievement to be proud of. The IE100 winners have shown that despite all of this, they haven't allowed it to hinder the overall performance of their businesses, and many have, in fact, thrived. They have impressed us with their innovation and growth - they deserve huge recognition for their efforts.

JSL Essentials

Plant-Based Hair & Skincare Products of the Year - Global

Harnessing plant power

JSL Essentials believes in healthy living and the healing powers of plants. By creating purposeful skin and haircare products crafted from the purest ingredients, the company showcases the amazing natural abilities of plant actives to heal and work in harmony with your body.

JSL Essentials was founded by Katie Warner; an experienced Sports and Holistic Therapist. Katie has an unconditional love for all things natural and began her holistic journey at a very young age. She grew up on an agricultural farm in the Kent countryside, which soon unveiled a passion for all living things. After watching the process of her parents' planting seeds, watching them grow and then eventually consuming them herself, Katie realised the incredible health benefits of plants and decided she wanted to harness those benefits and share them with the world. This very soon led to a qualification in Cosmetic Legislation and Organic Skincare, where Katie began her journey in formulating and manufacturing her skin, hair and home care products.

"I knew I wanted to incorporate my farming roots within a business venture at some point, which is where the inspiration of creating plant based beauty products originate," explains Katie. "Unfortunately I lost my Father to mental health 12 years ago, which is when I began formulating. Each product formula has taken many years to perfect. I undertook a Product Legislation course as well as an Organic Skincare Making course and eventually

and abundant life

gained my Cosmetic Product Safety Reports for each formula – this was an incredibly gruelling process but the desire to dedicate something to my late father was my sole motivation. JSL were my father's initials, so the entire range is dedicated to him and all the wonderful plant-based knowledge he passed on to me.

"Mental Health is a condition that is very close to my heart, so a percentage of every sale goes towards Samaritans Charity. Being that the entire product line is predominantly plant based, you can imagine we are an eco friendly company. We use bottles that are 35 per cent recycled, all of our packaging is recyclable and/or compostable and with every sale made, a tree is planted via a company called Ecologi."

JSL Essentials was launched in 2021 and was born out of the belief that healthy living and eating is the best foundation for a wholesome happy and abundant life. The entire range was built upon recognising the potential in botanical ingredients to boost the skin and hair's natural, protective qualities. Gentle anti-inflammatory and soothing plant-based ingredients are at the heart of JSL Essentials and our continuous mission is to provide the purest botanicals. ■

Content is king, queen and castle

Influencer marketing is one of the fastest growing and most effective ways for brands to reach their target audiences in an authentic and engaging way. Here, Chelsea Larson Andrews and Beverley Eve, the founders of the award-winning influencer marketing agency TechMode, share their top insights into influencer marketing.

In the ever-evolving digital landscape, content reigns supreme. Whether it's blog posts, podcasts, webinars, video interviews, or live broadcasts, high-quality content is essential to any successful marketing strategy. Yet, many companies miss the mark by not leveraging third-party content creation and marketing. This oversight can be costly, as harnessing third-party content can boost ROI on brand exposure and engagement by an impressive 8x.

The value of premium content production and marketing cannot be overstated. At TechMode, we create high-impact content and generate mass exposure through third-party influencer platforms. Authenticity is at the core of our strategy and we've perfected the art of seamlessly integrating third-party content into broader brand strategies, ensuring organic and impactful engagement.

It's all about trust

Trust is the currency of the modern market. While consumers may be skeptical of brands, they trust industry thought leaders. Thought leaders serve as trusted guides, helping consumers navigate the crowded marketplace and make informed decisions

It's an ecosystem

At TechMode, cultivating meaningful relationships from across the tech ecosystem is at the heart of what we do. Each partnership is a symbiotic journey where reputations intertwine and success is mutual. Our aim is to foster unwavering loyalty from all stakeholders, with positive feedback the foundation of our achievements.

Good Egg Safety CIC

Putting safety first

Through its award-winning training programmes, Good Egg Safety, is dedicated to safeguarding families from harm and is making a remarkable difference across the UK.

Good Egg Safety, has established itself as a trusted source of support, information, and guidance for safety standards throughout the UK.

They provide all the information families need on child seat safety, child safety in the home and family cycling safety, to name just a few.

The company has also developed ground-breaking training programmes for learner and novice drivers which have been hosted in schools and colleges throughout the UK, and work-related driver safety programmes for apprentices and graduates in leading private corporations

Good Egg Safety works closely with the Department for Transport and Road Safety Scotland in efforts to drive down avoidable child occupant casualties nationwide. Furthermore, they collaborate with local authorities across Great Britain, fostering close partnerships to create impactful initiatives.

By aligning its mission with the government's agenda, Good Egg Safety plays a crucial role in shaping policies and implementing programmes which enhance safety for all.

National Child Car Seat Safety Training Programme

There have been significant scientific and technological advances in child restraint systems and vehicles over the last 40 years; yet road traffic collisions remain one of the leading causes of child injury and fatalities across Europe.

Keeping children safe is a collective responsibility, and Good Egg Safety has worked closely with dedicated partners for over two decades, to improve child safety in cars.

When it comes to purchasing a child car seat, an independent survey commissioned by Good Egg Safety and conducted by Agilysis, highlighted that many parents and carers felt they hadn't been given the information they needed to make the correct child seat choice.

With vital funding from the Department for Transport, and support from leading industry partners, Good Egg Safety designed and produced an award-winning, accredited child seat training programme.

This is used to train public sector / emergency service / NHS personnel and leading child seat retailers how to correctly advise parents and carers on the safe selection and fitting of their child seats.

The programme, which is delivered at the superb GTG training academies in Wolverhampton and Edinburgh, offers access to the latest research and information, short films, VR and ongoing support from the Good Egg experts, to help improve child safety in cars.

It's a two-day course with theory and extensive hands-on practicals with many varied child seat models, test rigs, training dolls and vehicles. With interactive learning and group activities, the training is rounded off with assessments and accredited certification on successful completion. Candidates have access to ongoing 24/7 support and online resources.

The programme has received many excellent reviews from candidates who “Brilliant trainers. I really enjoyed this excellent course. Now I can ensure parents and carers are getting the safest advice for their children.”

state it has significantly increased their confidence and competence to provide child safety advice in their regions.

Environmental sustainability

Long term collaboration with a leading private sector partner, Arnold Clark Group, has enabled local authorities nationwide to distribute digital versions of the award-winning Good Egg Guide publications. This move aligns with the company's commitment to environmental sustainability.

The company says its success is down to the dedication of its team members, who genuinely care about the safety issues they address.

As the company looks to the future, it promises new initiatives to strengthen its position as a trusted resource and advocate for family and child safety. ■

Akeno Ltd

Business Transformation Specialists of the Year - Northamptonshire - UK

A driving force in the automotive industry

Akeno is an award-winning independent innovation and transformation consultancy agency focused on delivering positive, sustainable change for its clients, underpinned by cohesive and energised teams.

The company drives delivery via a robust programme management approach that brings stability and transparency with the ability to adapt and adjust. Its pragmatic, focused and energised approach is what sets it apart. Plus, the company's core values are at the heart of everything it does - from going above and beyond for clients to fostering a supportive and collaborative team environment.

Automotive industry specialists

Akeno specialises in the automotive industry with clients including Audi, VW, SEAT, CUPRA, Skoda, Jaguar, Land Rover, Volvo and Mercedes.

The automotive industry is going through the biggest changes since Sir Henry Ford sold his first car in 1903; electrification (with the added complexity of higher energy prices), direct-to-consumer sales, and connected cars (cars having the ability to 'dial' for help themselves in case of a fault or accident), to name a few.

With change, comes the need for digital transformation which encompasses the operational business processes and the people that underpin everything. And that's where Akeno come in.

Key automotive industry developments in the UK include the shift to an agency sales model - where the brand sells a car direct to the consumer, using the dealer as an agent rather than a seller. This approach offers standardised pricing to consumers, removing the need to battle to get the best deal, but it's not right for all brands and all markets. Akeno's expertise allows it to work with a brand to assess suitability for the transition and how that transition could work.

The UK has established itself as a global leader in areas such as electric vehicles, autonomous driving technology, and sustainable mobility solutions. Being based in the UK allows Akeno unique opportunities to tap into this advanced automotive ecosystem, accessing cutting-edge technology, top-tier talent, and collaborative partnerships.

Harnessing the strengths of the UK automotive market, also enables Akeno to stay at the forefront of industry trends, anticipate market shifts and deliver innovative solutions that meet the evolving needs of its clients and partners.

By championing innovation, excellence, and collaboration, Akeno contributes to the continued advancement and competitiveness of the UK automotive sector, driving positive impact and prosperity for all stakeholders involved. That said, the company also has experience of working outside the UK market.

A skilled workforce

Akeno places significant importance on maintaining a skilled and diverse workforce to drive its growth and success. It seeks team members who resonate with the company ethos and values team players who are enthusiastic, collaborative, and motivated to make a positive difference. The company is dedicated to nurturing its team members' ongoing growth and career progression; providing various avenues for learning and development, including training schemes, mentorship programmes, and access to resources to enhance skills, knowledge and improvement, offering regular opportunities for reflection, goal-setting and performance appraisal.

Akeno is committed to a future of growth and innovation as it continues to expand its team and extend its reach within and beyond the automotive industry. Over the next year, the company envisions further growth and development, with plans to take on new and exciting projects that promise significant impact for its clients and their consumers. ■

Paws2Rescue

Animal Charity of the Year - UK

Dedicated to dogs

Paws2Rescue is a UK- registered charity, and every member of our 43-strong team is a volunteer dedicated to relieving the suffering of animals across the world.

Why Do We Do it? Nine o'clock in the morning and it was already -20°C as we drove to the public shelter in a town in rural Romania. At least we knew that the 800 strays and abandoned pets caged in the most appalling conditions there would eat well today, thanks to the bags of food we had stashed in the boot. Our hearts broke as we passed dogs pitifully curled up against the biting wind; half-hidden inside holes they had dug in the snow just to survive. That's when we saw Ivy slowly walking along, silent in her pain, too cold to show fear when we approached. She was heavier than she looked, weighed down by heavy clumps of matted fur and her paws, frozen solid, made us cry. This is the everyday reality in Romania and Moldova where the lack of neutering has led to a huge stray population; where starving dogs scavenge before being cruelly rounded up by dog-catchers and taken to "shelters" to be killed. Yet Ivy, and thousands like her, are now warm and fed because we refuse to drive by. For dogs like her, adopted into UK families, the days of frozen paws and empty bellies are over. Thousands, almost millions of pups have not been born into misery because we carry out neutering. Because we care. Our love for dogs does not recognise borders, and we cannot stand to see any dog in distress.

What do we do?

Providing neutering services is at the heart of our mission as work towards our ultimate goal of ensuring every dog is a wanted dog. Currently, we neuter extensively in Ukraine, Peru, Columbia, and particularly the communities of rural Romania and we are grateful for the support of Battersea Dog's Home in this. Each year, our vet scholarships enable our mission

young people to train in Veterinary Medicine at college or university in Romania. These student vets participate in neuter campaigns, in global research projects and our new Medical Center for Education and Animal Services in the south of the country. This unique project is the first of its kind in Romania where as well as providing medical care, we will expand the education programme we have already rolled out across seven counties in Romania. Additionally, our commitment to helping individual dogs in danger means that we are constantly facilitating the rescue of abused and injured dogs. Collectively, our rescuers have up to 3,000 animals in their care at any one time and we support them by fundraising to cover the cost of vet treatment, food, bedding and shelter. We also run an adoption scheme, enabling a number of animals to find a loving family in the UK. Sadly, some of our dogs are just too traumatised to be rehomed, and we provide a secure and comfortable environment for these animals through our Sponsor a Dog scheme and our Sanctuary.

Every member of our team has a particular remit, from arranging home-checks to organising fundraising events and updating our social media channels. Our main efforts are focused on funding our projects, those areas where our input is most desperately needed and devise projects to meet those needs. Prepare for Winter is an annual campaign that starts in the summer. Donations raised are specifically held until the winter, when temperatures in Romania can drop below -25C and the snow drifts up to 8 feet or more. Every year, we are able to help up to fifty small rescuers and individuals who cry out for help for shelter, straw and food. This campaign is a real lifesaver for dogs, as our new Sanctuary will be. Working to architects' plans, the build is of high quality, and of course, the costs are equally high and we are reliant on donations for each step of the project.

We are passionate about what we do, but we can't do it alone. We rely on the kindness of supporters who are equally committed to alleviating suffering and who believe in our mission: ensuring every animal is a wanted animal. ■

Neil's Data Consultancy

Full Service Accountancy Firm of the Year
- Somerset - UK

Having worked in finance for almost 20 years, I have experienced a wide range of roles in diverse industries such as telecoms, utilities, infrastructure services, commercial banking, veterinary and web design.

I started full time with my accountancy business after losing my job for the third time in January 2020, armed with £400 cash, an old laptop, a crappy Wix website and insurance cover. I have managed to scale to 180 clients in four years by helping small business owners to understand their financials better.

Whether it's annual accounts, tax (dead boring...), payroll, VAT, bookkeeping, financial modelling, cash flow analysis, management accounts, business partnering (a lot more exciting...!) and much more – I've got you covered. Most of all, I do this with a smile and a personality and create long lasting partnerships with my clients that focus on collaborative working. I'm passionate to try and help you make your business grow.

I do a lot of work with charities and I sponsor a range of sports teams and individuals.

Mechway Ltd

Commercial & Industrial Equipment Supplier of the Year - UK

Mechway Ltd is a leading provider of comprehensive warehousing, demolition, mining, agricultural, and waste management solutions in the UK.

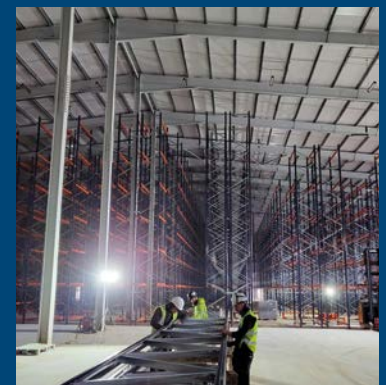

Mechway is a young and dynamic company established five years ago, which has rapidly emerged as a trusted provider of comprehensive services within the warehousing, haulage, demolition, mining, agricultural, and waste management sectors.

With a focus on building lasting relationships and delivering high-quality services, Mechway's diverse range of offerings include designing and installing storage solutions, supplying fire and dust suppression systems, providing barriers and bollards, acting as an agent for Toyota forklift trucks and pallet trucks, and offering repair and installation services for shutters, roller doors, and integrated truck wash systems. It is also known for its top-notch vacuum cleaners, scrubber dryers, sweepers and pressure washers.

What truly sets Mechway apart is its solid commitment to building long-term client relationships. Rather than completing a project and vanishing, the company emphasises ongoing support, training, and repairs to ensure customer satisfaction even after installation. This approach reflects its business ethos and dedication to providing exceptional client service.

Managing director, Daniel Browne explains the firm's approach to propelling itself towards achieving its goals: "We believe in continuous improvement, learning from each installation, and working smarter rather than just keeping busy. Effective communication and listening to customer feedback are crucial in our journey. We acknowledge that we don't know everything, and by closely collaborating with our clients, we develop internal skills to deliver the most appropriate solutions." ■

SPECIAL FEATURE - Annatomix

Bring colour to unloved spaces

Birmingham, UK based Annatomix is a self-trained visual artist who has spent the past 11 years cultivating an instantly recognisable style that focuses heavily on wildlife.

Born out of a natural leaning towards traditional graphic design and a keen interest in graffiti, Annatomix has developed a wide and varied practice through experimentation, choosing not to restrict herself to any medium. Her constantly evolving geometric animals can be found carved in wood, sculpted in clay and bounding across walls from Mexico to India.

Annatomix is internationally known for her bold murals, turning otherwise unloved spaces into vibrant artworks, bringing colour and joy to the surroundings while frequently highlighting the fragility of the natural world.

Her work is centred around our connection with nature, or rather our detachment from it. She uses her robotic, aesthetically pleasing creatures to question how we interact with other species, our self-imposed superiority, our desire to “play god” and why we move in cycles of worship and destruction with the world around us.

With a background in music and events, Annatomix also has a keen insight into the creative industries and the effectiveness and impact of art at a social level. She dedicates her work practice to meeting that need, collaborating with businesses, schools and universities, museums, local councils, charitable organizations and community groups. ■
