Cabin News: The cabin was SO close to collapse, the experts were amazed it hadn't fallen in.
The walls have been realigned, and cables were installed to keep them aligned. They are replacing the rafters that had been added to because they were too short. The trusses and rafters have been repaired and brought up to code.
They also removed all "modern" boards, and replaced/repared with original wood. Concrete work around the base needs to be taken care of. They will be jacking the building , pour a new foundation and vents. Fairly certain the repairs there will be taken care of before Fiddle Festival.

$1000.00 is remaining for the rest of the cabin restoration. Dottie will keep us apprised of the situation.

Denise was bugged by the amount estimated to fix the plumbing. Her husband and Scott Real came over to take a look. Scott ended up repairing the leaking toilets for a total of $300.00.

Wes is trying to reach Leonard Messersmith about the front doors needing repair. Gail will check and see about finding a number for him

Gail will work on the south side of the Museum sign. It is very much in need of repair before Fiddle Festival.

Someone besides Dottie and Lynn needs to learn about the clock tower and the watering system. Gail will wait to hear from Lynn on when she can follow him around . Jeri Kleppin also needs help and someone to learn about taking care of the photos. We really need to have some other folks available to be on call for tours, etc. We need to get more volunteers for Dottie.

Shirts and Coozies. Kaitlyn has an invoice for Scott. They'll work together with Idaho Custom Designs to get those things taken care of.

Calendar- Heritage Symphony this coming Saturday. Banjo Camp during Fiddle Week. Tori will be having a vocal camp during the mornings during Fiddle Week.

Showers will not be working yet for Fiddle Week. It was supposed to be done by now, but that hasn't happened yet. We just need to have some kind of shower for Fiddle Week. We'll check with Scott Real about a temporary fix for Fiddle Week.

Card reader for Fiddle Week. Wade has been using his personal account with the square card reader. It's wreaking havoc with his taxes. We need to figure something out so it can be done directly through the museum. Wade and Scott will get that going.
