Celebrating a Lifetime of Musical and Cultural Excellence

Presentation

Love, Sex, and NM Folk Music from our Past and Present

Lorenzo Trujillo, a highly respected figure in the world of Southwestern music and culture, is known for his life-long dedication to serving and promoting the rich traditions of folk music, dance, and arts. As a folk violinist, guitarist, vocalist, and accomplished ethnic dancer, Lorenzo has had a profound impact on the traditional music and dance of Southern Colorado and New Mexico.

As a teacher, performer, and ambassador of traditional Southwest music, for over six decades, Lorenzo Trujillo's career serves as an enduring example of the power of the arts to connect communities and preserve the rich cultural histories of the past. His contributions to the arts have earned him recognition on both national and international stages. Dr. Trujillo has received several prestigious awards.

Lorenzo is a long-time contributor and member of the Colorado Society of Hispanic Genealogy. He comes from a family of society members. His parents Maria Oralia Gallegos and Filberto "Fil" Trujillo were active members for many years.
