

Christians,

We need to serve the spirits of men & serve the governance of men.

Those who will listen we will have their ears and become allies of our righteous cause. And no matter the outcome from our appeal to Heaven and God, let no man say we did not try, that we were fools to challenge man's laws and rules. We need not fear man's hunger and desire for dominion over all men for they rule over fools and lost sheep, none of which the righteous will encounter in Heaven.

Let it be said that in these dark times of man with his flawed convictions regarding the rights and power of humankind in relation to God and the rest of the natural world is that of a demonic soul. He negates his contract with God to care for all of Gods people and creatures like a glutton with a bottomless hunger to devour all the goodness that God has created.

We must put on the Armor of God to protect all that is good in this world for Evil will give not mercy to those who surrender. God is our father who expects his children to cowboy up and fight in his honor. As a father he will stand in judgement expecting his children to not sit ideally by praying for help, yet not willing to sacrifice anything to defeat evil. There will be losses and pain in defeating evil but the rewards will be peace in heaven. Make no mistake there will be a reckoning and God always wins.
