Please tell me why you want a German Shepherd. This is not a trick question. Answers range from, I've always wanted one but never could before, to I want to breed. This doesn't determine whether or not you are approved for our puppies, it's a question as to ascertain the level of knowledge you have on these dogs and the amount of information we need to give to you to ensure YOU WANT a dog of this breed. I have customers who have owned GSDs their whole lives and know everything there is to know about them and I have customers who have never owned one and do not understand what is involved in owning them and I am a believer in knowledge and educating yourself on everything German Shepherd.

Every puppy from any of my litters are raised to be assertive, high energy, and prepared for most environments. These dogs require a lot of attention and time, as well as hours of activity. They are not docile creatures and for the first 10 weeks of their lives are raised in a high energy and curiosity inspired environment. If you cannot attain and maintain these goals please do not attempt to adopt one of my puppies. Prior to all purchases, there is an extensive interview and knowledge gathering process on my behalf to ensure my dogs go to appropriate families. I also reserve the right to decline adoption at any time before or after receipt of the deposit. If I determine a client is not acceptable at any time, and I cancel, all money received will be refunded. In all other instances (i.e., Client Cancellations, False Pregnancies, Puppy deaths), deposits are non-refundable and that is not negotiable. In the case of a false pregnancy or a puppy death while in my care, I will guarantee one from another litter. I will have all customers sign on the Interest Letter, The Interview Application and on the Contract to ensure this is understood.

I understand that any future deposit I leave on a puppy is not refundable under any circumstances unless the breeder terminates our agreement.
