Introduction

September at Snehavardhini Social Trust was a vibrant chapter of learning, joy, and unity. The month was marked by engaging activities that fostered education, health awareness, creativity, and community participation—thanks to the active involvement of teachers, youth, women, children, and families.

Hostel children explored nature on a waterfall trip, while playschool children celebrated Garba with innocent delight.

On Migration Day, 9 families (35 members) shared their experiences and aspirations, echoing the spirit of collective strength.

At the RJM level, Sports Day brought village children together in laughter and teamwork.

Teachers were also celebrated through sessions on professional etiquette, networking games, and village-level felicitations honoring their dedication. Together, these moments created a rich tapestry of growth, celebration, and shared purpose.

Teachers' Day Celebration

On Teachers' Day, children conveyed their heartfelt appreciation through songs, cultural performances, and joyful expressions. Their radiant smiles reflected the deep respect and affection they hold for their teachers. As the saying goes, "A teacher plants the seeds of knowledge that grow forever."

Asha Workers Training

Doctors from the National Institute of Naturopathy (NIN) Pune, conducted a specialized training session for ASHA workers, enhancing their competencies in health, nutrition, and community welfare. The program reinforced their vital role as the “backbone of rural healthcare.”

Youth Initiative – Visit to Pen Adivasi Office

Youth from our villages made a second visit to the Pen Adivasi Office to follow up on their request for a community hall. Their persistence and dedication highlighted the strength of emerging leadership—affirming that youth are not just the future, but a driving force of today.

Women's Participation in Gram Sabha

Women from our villages actively attended the Gram Sabha, raising their voices and making their presence felt. Their growing confidence in governance reflects true empowerment. “WHEN WOMEN PARTICIPATE IN DECISION-MAKING, COMMUNITIES GROW STRONGER.”

Sports Day Participation

Sports Day was marked by vibrant enthusiasm, with six spirited children from our village taking part with pride. These occasions foster confidence, camaraderie, and a sense of discipline. As one young participant beautifully expressed, “Winning is sweet, but the joy of playing together is even greater.”

Hostel Level Creative Activities

At the hostel, children showcased their talents in quilling and painting activities, filling the atmosphere with colors and creativity. They also enjoyed a joyful trip to the waterfall, a moment of learning beyond classrooms—WHERE NATURE ITSELF BECAME THE TEACHER.

Migration Day Program (28th September)

On 28th September, 9 families comprising 35 members came together for the Migration Day program. The session focused on awareness, challenges, and guidance for migrating families. It was a reminder that “NO JOURNEY IS TOO HARD WHEN WE WALK IT TOGETHER.”

Playschool Garba Celebration

The tiny tots of our playschool lit up the Garba celebration with infectious energy and joy. Their gleaming eyes and cheerful twirls turned the event into a radiant festival of innocence—where every step echoed laughter and every smile painted happiness.

Edu@el Classes (21st September)

On 21st September, children from six Edu@el Centres came together for a vibrant and meaningful program. Our hostel children dedicated themselves wholeheartedly to making the event unforgettable. The Snehavardhini Centre was honored with several accolades—including Best Supervisor, Best Teacher, Best Student (Maya Koli and Bhuimka Shid), and Best Centre. A poignant mime on education left a lasting impression, echoing the profound message: “Education is not preparation for life; education is life itself.”

Conclusion

September at Snehavardhini Social Trust blossomed with learning, creativity, and collective spirit. From teachers and Asha workers to women, youth, and children—every group played a unique role in making the month meaningful. As we move forward, we hold close the belief that “alone we educate a child, but together we nurture a generation.” With shared commitment, compassion, and collaboration, we remain dedicated to holistic growth and the well-being of our community
