

Nurture Crop Science LLP with a vision to lessen the chemical usage and help farmers to channelize their farming efforts brings you organic biological blends catering to plant health and crop protection, leading to higher productivity, focusing on chemical free agricultural solutions through Our innovative unique Microbial TECHNOLOGY-(MBT).

This technology involves usage of selective microorganisms and combining them with plant metabolites furnishing safer products for integrated crop management. Our aim at contributing towards organic products, that enhances the ecosystem, by providing an improved process of Carbon Cycle

We are also into contract production of hybrid seeds and serve various client in the US, South America, Europe, Asia. Our services include aiding international companies in research and nursery work like crossing, line purification, parent seed production, F1 pilot and commercial seed production.

