LAKE TRAVIS TERROR

Concept for novel...or one of those silly SyFy Channel Movies. Lake Travis in Austin is terrorized by a giant gar that has lived since prehistoric times. There are legends about it...but few had seen it until after recent fracking upset the balance of life in the depths of the Lake. Fisherman hunting for regular gar are frightened when they see a gigantic jaw rise out of the water and cut five-foot record gar in half...and soon, these jaws are taking swimmers from the same Lake, both night and day...right before spring break.