THE FARM

A novel about alien encounters and a troubling revelation about their long-term plans for humans. The story centers on a geographic, elliptical zone I call ‘the farm’ from Nebraska up through the Dakotas and into Saskatchewan Canada. The alien breeding program has gone on for thousands of years in this zone, long before the white man invaded. There are myths, legends and personal histories that have been amassed proving the process is still active and perhaps the ultimate goal...a surviving mutation able to exist beyond Earth changes and to travel in space.
