

Greetings! I'm Weston, and my callsign is KK7VYR.

I'm a recent addition to the HAM radio world, having started just about August 2024, and I've been loving every moment of this exciting journey. Normally a high tech guy, I run things Wednesday morning with a HT and some good old-fashioned paper- notating callsign, name, and I ALWAYS write a synopsis of your response, to look back on and learn from. I'm always eager to learn more and improve my skills on the air, running things like a call-in radio show when possible. My topics vary wildly from history, radio, and usually poised to try to learn about people's past experiences and careers as I try to learn about all the awesome HAMS who check in.

Finding the WVARC was as simple as stumbling across the repeater when I first borrowed a mobile radio from my (ever so gracious) friend Norm (NL7UE), with I believe John (WA7SO) talking about WW2 as I drove home from Chili's. When I'm not at the mic, you'll often find me riding motorcycles or serving my local church with tech. Combining my love for technology and community service, HAM radio has been a perfect blend of both worlds, allowing me to connect with amazing people while expanding my technical expertise.
