NOTE: Reef fish may be taken by large-mesh net (mesh over 2", net with mesh of 2" or less if <3', or slurp gun) and kept in an aquarium without a permit. Smaller sizes require an Aquarium Permit (West Hawaii issues its own permit and limits to * fish above). In April 2018, a court ruling voided all aquarium permits until a review is done of the effect on native species.

SUMMARY: Any animal not on the conditionally approved species list would be banned as pets. Hawaii has very little native wildlife other than marine species, so most are protected. Reef fish are legal to collect for aquariums with large mesh nets as long as fishing laws are followed. A court order currently bans issuing permits to use large mesh nets.

DISCLAIMERS:

* The laws listed above lists whether a species to legal to possess and import according to state laws and then any federally protected species with stricter regulations than the state. Be sure to review all federal laws as some ban certain species as pets or make it legal to possess a species but bans their interstate import in commerce or purchasing across state lines (you can still move with your animals across state lines).

*For states that do allow keeping wild-caught native species as pets, it is usually limited to game birds, game animals, furbearers, reptiles, amphibians and invertebrates. Such taking usually requires some type of hunting or fishing license in addition to any required captive wildlife permits. All laws must be followed, including daily bag and possession limits, seasons, size limits and location specific regulations.

* These guides are usually based on state fish & game laws, state agriculture and health import laws, and marine resource laws except when otherwise noted. Check laws for all requirements. Additional state laws may apply, including general animal control and care, livestock, and other health laws.

* Species lists vary on each state page depending on each state's law. While we try to include as many native vertebrate species as possible, we cannot guarantee that all species are covered above.
