SUMMARY: Native - Furbearers are banned as they require a propagator license, which are not for pets. Nongame birds are also banned. For nongame, 25 per species on the white list and 6 per species on the black list are legal without a nongame permit (White list are legal to sell in the state and black list are not.). Exotic - Nonnative skunk and fox are regulated the same as native ones and are banned. Plus fox, skunk, raccoon and coyote may not be transported under the rabies quarantine. Certain constrictors and venomous snakes require a permit. Dangerous wild animals require a certificate of registration. Rest are not regulated.

DISCLAIMERS:

* The laws listed above lists whether a species to legal to possess and import according to state laws and then any federally protected species with stricter regulations than the state. Be sure to review all federal laws as some ban certain species as pets or make it legal to possess a species but bans their interstate import in commerce or purchasing across state lines (you can still move with your animals across state lines).

*For states that do allow keeping wild-caught native species as pets, it is usually limited to game birds, game animals, furbearers, reptiles, amphibians and invertebrates. Such taking usually requires some type of hunting or fishing license in addition to any required captive wildlife permits. All laws must be followed, including daily bag and possession limits, seasons, size limits and location specific regulations.

* These guides are usually based on state fish & game laws, state agriculture and health import laws, and marine resource laws except when otherwise noted. Check laws for all requirements. Additional state laws may apply, including general animal control and care, livestock, and other health laws.
