The African Diaspora for Good Governance (ADGG) Board Selects a New President!

On Wednesday, August 18, 2021, the Board of Directors of the African Diaspora for Good Governance, approved Mr. Chijike K. Ndukwu, as its new President.

Mr. Chijike K. Ndukwu is a first-generation African immigrant from Nigeria. He holds a degree in Architecture from Abia State University, Uturu, Nigeria, and a graduate degree in Community and Economic Development from Southern New Hampshire University, NH.

Chijike is a former East Orange, NJ, City Council Candidate. He has done international work starting from his undergraduate years with the United Nations and many international organizations. Chijike is married and lives in East Orange, NJ, with their two beautiful daughters.

ADGG is a Newark, NJ-based national not-for-profit organization that brings all people of African descent in the USA together to create vibrant community-building initiatives that produce secure, economically and politically active individuals and communities. Through a series of targeted social, cultural, economic and political activities, we forge a unique unity of purpose.

ADGG educates, empowers and elects members of the African diaspora to realize their socio-political destinies in the United States and seek to translate that strength to engender good governance both in the USA and Africa.
