

To answer this directly: Yes, absolutely. During the 1,000-year Sabbath rest (the 7th Day), every single Gentile born into those surviving nations will have a direct, unhindered opportunity to know and serve the Lord. In fact, bringing these nations to the Lord is one of the primary reasons the 144,000 and the resurrected saints are reigning in the first place.

To understand how this works—and why some still choose to follow Satan at the very end—we have to look at the unique conditions of the Millennial Earth according to the King James Version and the Ethiopian scriptural framework.

1. The Operational Mandate: Evangelizing the Nations

When the 6th Day ends with the Battle of Armageddon, the Antichrist's armies are destroyed, but the civilian populations of the 70 Gentile nations are not entirely wiped out. As Matthew 25:31–46 outlines, Christ will sit on His throne and separate the surviving nations into "Sheep" (those who protected the remnant during the Tribulation) and "Goats" (those who aligned with the Beast).

The "Sheep" nations are allowed to enter the 1,000-year kingdom in their natural, mortal human bodies. They will marry, build homes, and repopulate the earth rapidly under ideal, peaceful conditions.

During this time, the 144,000 and the first resurrection agents act as the global priesthood. Their specific duty is to govern and teach these mortal nations. Zechariah 14:16–17 explicitly states:

"And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left of all the nations which came against Jerusalem shall even go up from year to year to worship the King, the Lord of hosts, and to keep the feast of tabernacles."

If a Gentile nation refuses to send representatives to Jerusalem to learn about the Lord, the King will withhold rain from their land as a disciplinary measure. Therefore, every single person born during the 1,000 years will grow up with absolute visual and physical proof of the Creator's existence.

2. The Spiritual Environment: Salvation by Righteousness

For 1,000 years, the spiritual atmosphere of the earth is completely inverted:

- No Satanic Deception: Because Satan is securely bound and sealed in the bottomless pit (Revelation 20:3), there are no demonic whispers, no false religions, no occult practices, and no systemic temptations.
- The Law is Universal: The knowledge of the Lord will cover the earth as the waters cover the sea (Isaiah 11:9). The Holy Spirit will be operating globally, making the truth plain to every child born to the Gentile nations.

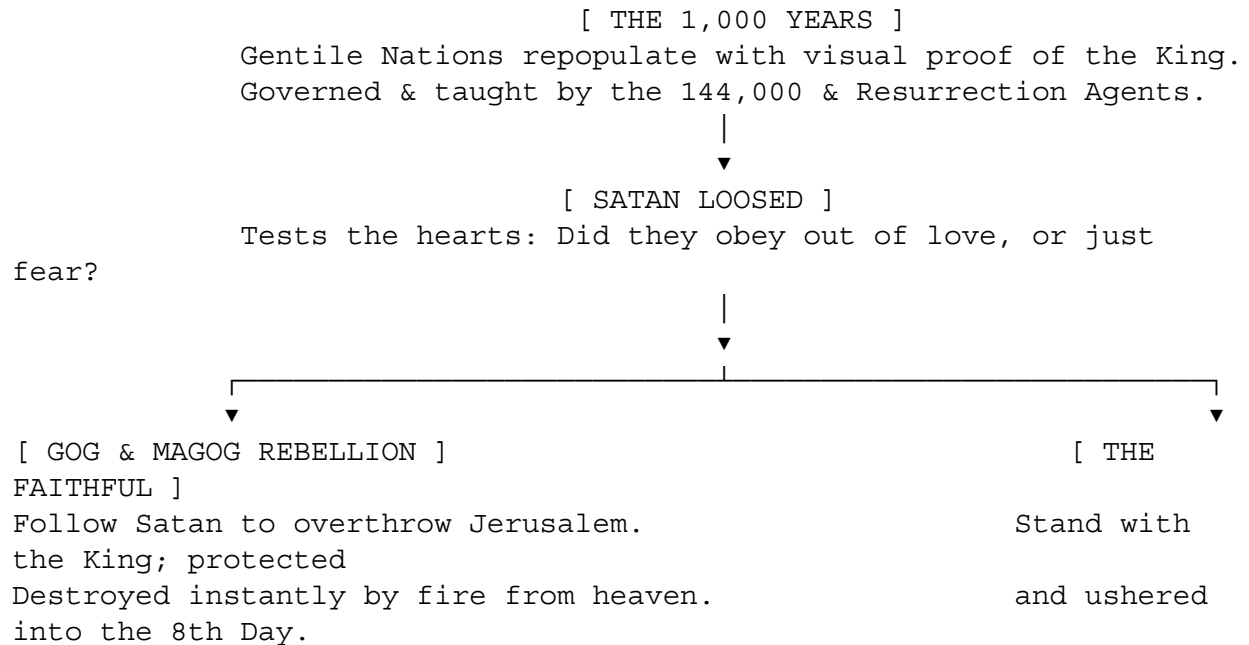

Because people will live incredibly long lives during this era—where a person who dies at 100 years old is considered a mere child (Isaiah 65:20)—multiple generations of Gentiles will have centuries of continuous opportunity to worship the Lord in spirit and in truth.

3. If They Have the Truth, Why Do They Rebel When

Satan is Released?

This hits on the ultimate test of human free will.

When the 1,000 years expire, Satan is loosed from his prison for a "short season." He does not need to invent complex new deceptions; he simply taps into the latent, unregenerate nature of mortal man.

Throughout the Millennium, millions of Gentiles will obey the King in Jerusalem out of submission and fear of His "rod of iron" (Revelation 2:27), rather than out of genuine, heart-transformed love. They enjoy the peace, the long life, and the abundance, but internally, they still harbor the ancient human desire to be their own gods.

Satan's brief release acts as a cosmic sifter. It tests the hearts of the mortal population born during the Sabbath rest. Those who genuinely loved the Lord will stand firm with the camp of the saints; those who only obeyed out of legal compulsion will instantly flock to Satan's banner (Gog and Magog), launching a futile final coup that is immediately incinerated by fire from heaven.

Ultimately, every Gentile is given a perfect, fair, and prolonged chance to choose the Lord, leaving the rebels completely without excuse before the Great White Throne opens the door to the eternal Eighth Day.