

Steel Magnolias

Truvy Audition Monologue #1

Honey, there's so much static electricity in here, I pick up everything except boys and money ... Annelle? This is the most successful shop in town.

Wanna know why? Because I have a strict philosophy that I have stuck to for fifteen years ... "There is no such thing as natural beauty." That's why I've never lost a client to the Kut and Kurl or the Beauty Box. And remember! My ladies get only the best. Do not scrimp on anything. Feel free to use as much hairspray as you want ... Just look at me, Annelle. It takes some effort to look like this ... Now, I restrict myself to ladies of the neighborhood on Saturday mornings. Normally that would be just three, but today we've got Shelby Eatenton. She's not a regular, she's the daughter of a regular. I have to do something special with her hair. She's getting married this afternoon.