

The Park Bench Library

<https://theparkbench.org.uk/>

The Park Bench is a small local charity whose volunteers run a lending library service for people in Bristol who find it difficult to register with the public library, usually because they have no fixed address.

Our first session was in 2005, and we currently run a library service at the Methodist Centre every Wednesday morning at 10:30 and an evening session at Logos House on Thursdays between 6 and 7pm.

We also supply books for open-access shelves at several other hostels and shelters.

Check out our website or see overleaf for ways you can help.

Our needs are modest, but we certainly welcome ongoing support:

Funds

- To purchase
- specially requested books
 - reading glasses
 - occasional sundries (record books, labels)

Books

We like to refresh our shelves and offer variety, especially to some of our avid readers.

Volunteers

We are only a very small team but welcome new interest.
