Measure muscle strength of all muscle groups on the body

Digimuscle presents a must-have solution for professionals by seamlessly measuring strength in both extremities, as well as assessing back and neck strength – all within a single device. Its ergonomic design ensures flexibility, consolidating diverse assessments into one comprehensive tool.

Measure finger strength with the same device

Revolutionize your approach with the ability to measure individual finger strength. Experience a new era of precision in clinical decisions, unlocking possibilities never seen before in the world of health and fitness.

Why choose us?

Digimuscle redefines both rehabilitation and performance enhancement. In rehabilitation, its precision in measuring individual muscle strength, including fingers, allows for finely-tailored recovery programs. Simultaneously, Digimuscle transforms the landscape of performance, guiding individuals to unlock their physical potential. This device marks a paradigm shift, seamlessly integrating nuanced insights into both rehabilitation and performance optimization.
