

YORGA DJENNA BIDI ABORIGINAL WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP PROGRAM APPLICANT INFORMATION HANDBOOK

Cohort 1, 2022

"Strong women mean a strong community. Empowering our women empowers our communities. We need to show these women the possibilities for their future, to give them something to aspire to."

Dr Robyn Smith-Walley, Chair Western Australian Aboriginal Leadership Institute.

THE ORGANISATION

The Western Australian Aboriginal Leadership Institute aims to empower, improve the general wellbeing, and reduce disadvantage of Aboriginal people by facilitating leadership development for Aboriginal people, in order to:

IMPROVE

self-esteem, self-acceptance, self-awareness, self-confidence and assertiveness

ENCOURAGE

autonomy through networking, education, and training

BUILD

a community of strong, resilient, empowered and connected Aboriginal people

EQUIP

Aboriginal people with skills to grasp opportunities and interpersonal skills to improve resilience, wellbeing, independence, communication, and healthy living

SUPPORT

Aboriginal people with embracing their cultural identity and belonging

Key Strategic Goals

The Western Australian Aboriginal Leadership Institute has five key strategic goals:

- HUMAN CAPACITY – attracting and retaining highly skilled Aboriginal staff
- COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AND PARTNERSHIPS – building strong, meaningful partnerships and delivering culturally appropriate and responsive leadership programs
- SUSTAINABLE FUNDING – secure funding for the future
- SOUND OPERATING AND GOVERNANCE MODEL – accountability, cultural identity, and leadership
- CULTURAL CURRICULUM – strong cultural curriculum and pedagogy across all programs

The Yorga Djenna Bidi Aboriginal Women's Leadership Program

The Yorga Djenna Bidi (Noongar for “women moving forward together”) Aboriginal Women's Leadership Program is delivered over four months and the design combines the best of successful group leadership programs and draws on best practice leadership models. Cultural content and context has been interwoven throughout the course design and delivery.

This is the only initiative we are aware of that brings Aboriginal women together across different cultural backgrounds, ages, occupations, identities, leadership experiences, and education. This diversity allows participants to learn from each other as well as from key speakers and facilitators. In addition to leadership learning, feedback from the pilot course indicated that younger participants were able to explore cultural identity issues with more mature participants who, in turn, learnt more about issues faced by younger Aboriginal women.

The Opportunity

The Yorga Djenna Bidi Aboriginal Women's Leadership Program will bring together Aboriginal women across different cultures, ages, occupations, identities, leadership experiences and education levels to build skills, gain confidence and build networks. The Aboriginal Women's Leadership Program will be facilitated with the support and guidance of Aboriginal Elders, Kwopertok Yorga Alumni (Noongar for “beautiful women”), Patrons and Staff.

The Aboriginal Women's Leadership Program is open to all Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Peoples. All applicants to the Western Australian Aboriginal Leadership Institute's programs and courses are reviewed through an application and interview process to ensure the program is a good fit for their development needs and situations.

Program Objectives

The objectives of the Yorga Djenna Bidi Aboriginal Women's Leadership Program are to:

- Develop leadership capacity for Aboriginal and wider community benefit.
- Facilitate meaningful and positive inter-cultural interactions.

In More Detail

The Yorga Djenna Bidi Aboriginal Women's Leadership Program involves 4 modules of leadership development. All modules must be completed to ensure graduation. There is also the requirement to complete program activities prior to and after each module. Graduation is included as part of the program.

|--|------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Module 1 Two night residential on-country cultural retreat. Departing Perth on Friday at 12pm and concluding Sunday afternoon around 2pm. | Point Walter Recreation Camp | 11 – 13 February 2022 |
| Module 2 Two-day program | tbc | 8 - 9 March 2022 |
| Module 3 Two-day program | tbc | 29 – 30 March 2022 |
| Module 4 Two-day program | tbc | 26 - 27 April 2022 |
| Graduation | Perpetual Trustees | 18 May 2022 |

The modules are based on an experiential learning methodology which incorporates a strong focus on the use of reflective learning and action learning processes. Participants are encouraged to consider what they learn across multiple levels i.e. self, team and community and develop a deep reflective practice. Part of this experiential learning approach includes guest speakers and site visits.

Please note there are public holidays prior to module 2 Monday 7 March (Labour Day) and module 4 Monday 25 April (ANZAC Day)

Who Should Apply?

Yorga Djenna Bidi is a leadership program designed for Aboriginal women:

- with a desire to influence, lead and generate change
- with a clear personal vision and purpose
- who want to work collaboratively in their own leadership development and the development of others

The Aboriginal Women's Leadership Program is open to Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Peoples. All applicants to the Western Australian Aboriginal Leadership Institute's programs and courses are screened through an application and interview process to ensure the program is a good fit for their development needs and situations.

What should I do before I apply?

If you have a job it is important to discuss your application with your employer before you apply to Yorga Djenna Bidi. It is important that your employer is aware of your desire to apply and complete the Yorga Djenna Bidi Program. You should raise your employer's attention to the fees for the program.

You can download the information sheet for employers from the WAALI website and provide your manager with a copy.

Discuss your application with your family and friends. Check the dates with important dates for your family especially holidays/weddings etc. WAALI expects 100% attendance so take time to review what is happening over the four-month period.

If you have a family, you may need to plan ahead for the dates of the program and book child care if you will need it. The retreat is over a weekend so you may need help with children to enable you to attend. The modules commence at 8.30am and finish at 5.30pm so you may also need help with before and after school care.

Travel and accommodation support for women living in the regions

If you live in the rural and remote regions of Western Australia and travel costs would cause your family financial hardship you can apply to WAALI for travel and accommodation assistance to enable you to attend the program. If you are not employed, you may also qualify for a scholarship from Lotterywest to cover your program fees.

Please contact the General Manager on 0438 239 009 for more information.

WAALI acknowledges the support of Lotterywest who have provided funding for women in the regions.

Yorga Djenna Bidi was one of the most rewarding things I have done to date. A journey of self-discovery and the finding of inner strength, understanding and of making peace with inner demons. All while surrounded by wonderful strong women, who all share the same amazing vision.” Graduate
