A MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Hi YAAS family,

Happy November! As we head into the holidays, I want to remind everyone of our #1 purpose: make friends and have fun. Every event we host is designed to help you meet people who “get” you—and to give you simple ways to keep the connection going outside the club.

It’s totally okay—and encouraged—to make your own hangouts with people you meet here. If you find someone interesting, try the simple plan outlined on the right under “MAKING FRIENDS”.

We’ve planned two events this month where you can shop for Christmas gifts for loved ones while hanging out together. Think handcrafted items, local makers, and festive vibes.

You belong here. Whether you’re coming to shop for gifts, to say hi, or to plan your first 1-on-1 hangout, we’re cheering you on. Friendships grow when we spend regular time together—one text, one plan, one hello at a time.

See you this month!

MAKING FRIENDS:

How to exchange phone numbers (step-by-step)

1. Notice & choose: “I liked talking with you about ____.”
2. Ask clearly: “Can we exchange phone numbers so we can hang out sometime?”
3. Share & confirm: Read the number back to each other: “I have 541-__-__. Is that right?”
4. Save contact: Add their name and “YAAS” in your phone (e.g., “Alex – YAAS”).
5. Send a quick intro text right away:
6. “Hi, it’s ____ from YAAS. Great meeting you! 😊”

What to do after you have the number

1. Pick an activity you both like (keep it simple): coffee, short walk, arcade, bowling, movie, thrift run, or video games.
2. Offer 1–2 specific options (date, time, place):
3. “Want to meet Saturday at 2:00 PM at [Coffee Shop]?”
4. or “I’m free Wednesday 5–7 PM—mini-golf?”
5. Confirm the plan the day before:
6. “Hi! Just checking in—are we still on for tomorrow at 2 PM at [place]?”
7. Meet in a public place & handle your own ride (for safety). Be on time, say hello, and do the activity.
8. Send a thank-you text after:
9. “I had fun today—want to do this again next week?”
10. If they can’t or don’t reply: Wait 48–72 hours, then try one more simple option (“No worries—want to try next Saturday 2 PM?”). If not, invite someone else—keep going!

BE SEEN. BE HEARD. BELONG.
