

James Redmond – Candidate for New Minas Village Commissioner

James Redmond has proudly called New Minas home for 55 years. Together with his wife, Brenda, he has built a life rooted in family, community service, and a commitment to making the village a great place to live, work, and raise a family. With decades of leadership experience in business, emergency services, and local government, James remains dedicated to serving the residents of the community he has long called home.

Throughout his professional career, James held senior leadership roles in Nova Scotia's manufacturing sector. He managed two large manufacturing plants, including one in New Minas, gaining extensive experience in budgeting, personnel management, strategic planning, and organizational leadership. He also served as a Director of the Canadian Feed Manufacturing Association and the Nova Scotia Poultry Council. These roles strengthened his ability to work collaboratively, make responsible financial decisions, and address complex challenges—skills that continue to support his work in local government.

James has always believed in giving back to his community. He has been a member of the New Minas Volunteer Fire Department for 52 years and has served as Fire Chief for the past 30. During that time, he has participated in numerous fire service committees and initiatives, helping strengthen emergency services and public safety throughout the region.

His dedication has been recognized through many awards and honours, including the Kings County Fire Services Medal, Federal Exemplary Fire Service Medals for 20 and 40 years of service, the Nova Scotia Heritage Medal, and the Queen's Golden Jubilee Medal. Most recently, he received the King Charles III Coronation Medal for exceptional community service. He has also been recognized as a CTV Maritimer of the Week and awarded the Paul Harris Medal from Rotary International.

James has served as a New Minas Village Commissioner for 32 years, including six years as Vice-Chair. He currently serves as Chairperson of the New Minas Water Commission and the New Minas Source Water Committee. He has also chaired the New Minas Area Advisory Committee and served as a Director of New Minas Parks and Recreation.

During his time on the Commission, James has helped guide the village through significant growth and development. New Minas has expanded its boundaries, maintained strong financial stability, kept tax rates consistent, enhanced beautification efforts, and supported the growth of one of the Valley's strongest recreation departments. The Louis Millett Community Complex has become a valued community hub, hosting athletic events, weddings, and community gatherings.

James believes the future of New Minas is bright. He remains committed to responsible leadership, sound financial management, and continued investment in services and infrastructure that benefit residents. Drawing on a lifetime of experience in management, volunteer service, and local government, he is seeking re-election to continue working on behalf of the community and helping ensure New Minas remains a thriving place to live, work, and enjoy for generations to come.
