

Vicki G. Baggett

Vicki Gandy Baggett is a graduate of Jay High in Santa Rosa County, FL. She attended what used to be called Jefferson Davis Community College and then the University of Alabama, where she earned her degree in English. She began her teaching career at Pace High School. She later earned her Masters in English from the former Livingston University, all while continuing to educate children at both the high school and college levels, teaching over a 34-year span in Escambia County, AL; Monroe County, AL; and Escambia County, FL, where she currently teaches senior and Dual Enrollment English today and has for many years.

Together with her husband, Garry, and their two grown children, Vicki is very active in her community and her church, especially when it comes to musical contributions and children and youth activities.

Vicki has spearheaded efforts in Escambia County regarding inappropriate content in public school libraries and media. As a property owner in Santa Rosa County, and an adult who loves children, she is stepping in to help Santa Rosa County community become aware of concerning material in their taxpayer-provided school resources and curriculum.
