President's Message

Dear Friends,

All of my Autumn quilts are out and I am enjoying the fall colors inside and out. Now if the cooler weather would come! We are already set for our guild to celebrate the upcoming holidays. We have our ornament kits ready to go for November. Our December Holiday party is planned and Lorraine is looking for members to sign up for their entree choice and make their payment (by check please). We are planning on having both "Cup of Kindness" and the "Holiday tricky Tray" at our dinner. Look for more information in this newsletter. Both the Quilt Bingo and the Quilt Fest (show) committees are gearing up for successful events next April and July so please show your support where you can. I hope everyone is inspired by this month's guest speaker and we have lots of show and tell quilts at future meetings.

In Stitches,
Kathy Parrish

Quilt Show/Exhibition 2018

The quilt show committee met recently at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church to evaluate the facility and all agree that this beautiful church will provide the perfect backdrop for our quilts. After even more deliberation we have decided to call our event Quilt Fest 2018 as it will best reflect the vision of our event. Quilt Fest 2018 will be promoting not only our guild but the art of quilt making. Our plans include live demo's, charity quilt efforts, children's quilt activity area, quilter's boutique where guild-made items will be for sale, and sewing machines with fabric squares available for guests to realize that, yes, they can make a quilt.

I will have a signup sheet at the October meeting for members to let us know how many bed size quilts they are planning to display at the show. Members can have as many items on display as they wish. Quilts from previous shows can be entered. We are not judging the quilts so no excuses that your "quilts are not good enough"! The signup sheet is just so the committee can get an idea how many we will have to work with. The large quilts will be draped over church pews and will not need a sleeve to hang them. We are hoping that every member has at least one item on display. This is a perfect opportunity to show off our talents, encourage new members to join and to promote Quilt Bingo.
