

We need to do
necessary to the burden of hout causing ve, freeze, or ce time, and
lge to give us
aps natural
le that bridge.
ards of natural
the difficulty
used nuclear significant
s, they are not tion. What we onal leadership
ng and capable.
Shapiro,

highways? Will it gridlock roads in downtown Camden? Will it have ample parking space for people who drive? What are the adjacent neighborhoods like? Is the site currently empty, and if not, what will have to be demolished for the stadium? Will properties adjacent to the site have to be demolished? The only thing the article told me was that the site is on the waterfront. The site tour was intended to be closed to the media, but an investigation could have answered some of these questions. Instead, the article was just a rehash of the issues with the Center City site.

Steven B. Erisoty,
Philadelphia

of physicians, nurses, and health-care workers who were on the front lines during the pandemic. We remember the refrigerated trucks serving as makeshift morgues parked outside our hospitals. We remember we had to use garbage bags as a substitute for gowns.
We remember we had to reuse gloves. We remember having to sew cloth masks because of the shortage.
We remember living away from our families for weeks on end so as not to risk infecting them. And we definitely remember, at the height of the pandemic, the nationwide scarcity of COVID tests, making it difficult to accurately diagnose and care for our patients. By providing supplies critical to saving American lives to an adversary, Trump shows us his true allegiance. It is not the United States of America.

Teri Mills, *Nurses for America, Tualatin, Ore.,
and Ezekiel Tayler,* Doctors for Harris, Wynnewood

True allegiance

With the release of Bob Woodward's new book, it was revealed that Donald Trump shipped COVID-19 test machines to Vladimir Putin. Livid doesn't even begin to cover the reaction

racter