

CWA Utilities Bargaining Update #3

Brothers and Sisters,

Today your bargaining team met with the company to exchange proposals. The Union submitted proposals surrounding bereavement, holidays, overtime, and health and safety. The company asked clarifying questions and the committee explained the reasoning behind the proposals and its importance to Machine Operators, their work life balance, and the company. The company said they heard us loud and clear and will take everything we said into consideration when responding back to our proposals.

The company said they are looking forward to bargaining with the Utilities bargaining team and we are ready, willing and able to fight for an equitable contract.

Fight for more in 2024!
