COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course will offer the latest training on emerging low-GWP refrigerants and A2L refrigerants. This course is designed to help with the transition to low-GWP refrigerants for residential and commercial comfort cooling and commercial refrigeration which will include alternatives that are mildly flammable, highly flammable, and have a higher toxicity than those used today. The NITC R78 braze certification is included in this course.

PREREQUISITES: All attendees must already have an EPA license.
