

When you put a Photographer and a Make-up Artist together that both have a passion for Halloween and aren't afraid to get creative, you end up with a killer session like this one!

Abby with Abigail Renee Photography has been shooting since high school, but about four years ago she went professional and there is no denying why she made that choice! Her warm & moody editing style has a touch of golden tones that are showcased throughout these photos. She usually focuses on capturing couples, weddings, and elopements which is full of movement, laughter, and love in all forms. That's why she loves Halloween sessions because they challenge her creativity in a new way and brings a different type of look to her work.

Nadia has been a Make-Up Artist for five years and specializes in airbrush techniques that she applies on her brides or clients for their special events their "natural glam" application. But that doesn't mean she can't turn 180 degrees and let her creative side flourish with different techniques and special effect Halloween make-up as she did in this stunning shoot! Looks like her fascination for Halloween since she was little paid off!

Can you believe this is the first shoot the two vendors have collaborated on?! Once they saw their visions come to life, and we have to say in a perfected way, they agreed they would be working together again in the future! "I love to work with super creative people like Abby because it is a great way to network & allows me to give recommendations to my clients. I've been following Abby's work for quite some time and she has such a beautiful way of capturing her couples love in the session." Nadia shared. "It is so important to have a makeup artist for your shoot because they are trained professionals. Nadia's skull makeup held so well and her professionalism is unmatched." Abby shared.
