Bridges of Hope

2845 Jackie Snider Trail
Stapleton, GA 30823

478-625-3930
www.bridgesofhope.org

Insurance companies will not pay for the services Bridges of Hope is a recovery program not a treatment center in the traditional sense. Medical, psychiatric, and professional counseling services are not automatically available to residents. Bridges of Hope is not a state-funded facility. They operate and cover expenses solely on charitable contributions and donations from companies and foundations which are tax deductible. They cannot accept anyone in need of detoxification (but may be able to refer such a person to a qualified medical facility). They do not accept individuals with so-called dual diagnosis, or those with a history of violence. Bridges of Hope does not currently offer services for adolescents but will accept men and women from late teens and up. However, they have a limited capacity for teenage males. Women are accepted at the Alamo, Georgia facility. Bridges of Hope is not a "half-way" house. All residents are required to commit to full-time residency. This facility is a working facility, meaning residents' physical condition should be fair to good to contribute at least moderate on-site activities on a daily basis. Although Bridges of Hope subscribes to the spiritual program and principles of Alcoholics Anonymous, they are not affiliated with any specific religious organization.

Stapleton, GA 30823

478- 625-3930
www.bridgesofhope.org

Insurance companies will not pay for the services Bridges of Hope is a recovery program not a treatment center in the traditional sense. Medical, psychiatric, and professional counseling services are not automatically available to residents. Bridges of Hope is not a state- funded facility. They operate and cover expenses solely on charitable contributions and donations from companies and foundations which are tax deductible. They cannot accept anyone in need of detoxification (but may be able to refer such a person to a qualified medical facility). They do not accept individuals with so- called dual diagnosis, or those with a history of violence. Bridges of Hope does not currently offer services for adolescents but will accept men and women from late teens and up. However, they have a limited capacity for teenage males. Women are accepted at the Alamo, Georgia facility. Bridges of Hope is not a "half- way" house. All residents are required to commit to full-time residency. This facility is a working facility, meaning residents' physical condition should be fair to good in order to contribute through at least moderate on- site activities on a daily basis. Although Bridges of Hope subscribes to the spiritual program and principles of Alcoholics Anonymous, they are not affiliated with any specific religious organization.
