ABOUT NICOLE

Nicole is a passionate advocate for the unreached and a lover of the word of God. She loves teaching and writing about God's big story and His global purposes. Her personal mission statement is to educate, equip, and empower members of the American church to understand the Great Commission and find their unique role in it. She has a Bachelor's degree in International Business and a Master's degree in Global Studies. She has worked with Cafe 1040 since 2015 and is now serving as the Vice President of Mobilization and Strategic Partnerships. She is an active Perspectives instructor and speaks regularly at missions conferences and churches, both nationally and internationally. She is a published author and sought-after Bible teacher. She also leads the missions effort at her church. Her love of travel and Jesus has brought her to over 30 different countries and counting. But her favorite role of all is full-time wife and mom to three children.
