Yorkton Has Much to Offer Visitors

When you're travelling through East Central Saskatchewan you will enjoy a stopover in Yorkton.

"Yorkton truly has much to offer visitors, whether you're here for a weekend getaway, a sports tournament, or just passing through, there's something for everyone," offered Yorkton Mayor Aaron Kienle.

"One of Yorkton's biggest strengths is its blend of small town charm with big city amenities. We have fantastic restaurants, thriving local shops, sports teams to cheer on, an active arts and culture scene, and outstanding recreational facilities."

Kaitlyn Kitzan, Executive Director with the Yorkton Business Improvement District agreed Yorkton has many things of interest to tourists.

"Yorkton truly has so much to offer—from its vibrant arts and culture scene to its rich agricultural heritage and welcoming community spirit," she said. "Whether you're here for a weekend or just passing through, there's always something happening that showcases the heart of our city."

Juanita Polegi, Executive Director with the Yorkton Chamber of Commerce said it starts with the city simply being an inviting one.

"It's a pretty city with tree lined avenues and streets and well maintained residential and commercial districts," she said. "The public spaces are well maintained and boast attractive flowers and shrubbery, with barrels of flowers lining the streets and the city is so clean.

"There are numerous green spaces and walking trails for people to stretch their legs and re-energize.

"And, the people are friendly."

Polegi said the city always seems to have an event going on; the Yorkton Film Festival, Summer Fair and Harvest Showdown all being signature events, plus "tournaments, meets and rallies of all kinds are held each weekend on the diamonds, pitches, fields, fairways and speedways."

Visits can be made to the Western Development Museum; Godfrey Dean Cultural Centre to view the latest art exhibits; the library; and the Brick Flour Mill to learn more about the history of the area, added Polegi.

The downtown skateboard park is also a popular spot for young people.

"One event I'd definitely encourage visitors to mark on their calendars is Downtown CultureFest, held every Thursday evening in June (June 4, 11, 18, and 25)," added Kitzan. "It's a celebration of community, diversity, and local talent right in the heart of downtown—featuring live performances, food, family activities, and cultural experiences."

Then there is the Yorkton Film Festival, the oldest in North America, which Kienle noted "The longest running film festival in North America, it draws filmmakers and film lovers from across the country and beyond. A true gem in our city!”

Kitzan added the festival is so notable because of the “incredible Canadian and international content” brought to the city each spring.

A few must see events or attractions suggested by Kienle were:

Culturefest - Hosted by the Yorkton Business Improvement District, this lively downtown celebration features sidewalk sales, entertainment, family friendly activities, and a great chance to support local businesses while enjoying the summer vibe.

Another must-see is the Yorkton Summer Fair in July—a true community tradition that brings together midway rides, live entertainment, agricultural showcases, and fun for the whole family. It’s a highlight of summer in Yorkton and draws visitors from all over the region.

Godfrey Dean Art Gallery - Featuring rotating exhibits from local, provincial, and national artists. It’s a cultural cornerstone in our community.

While the city offers a number of fine hotels and motels there is also camping in the City Campground, or at York Lake Regional Park, or even nearby Good Spirit Lake which offers the full lake experience of swimming, boating, and fishing.

Water features are huge in the community, said Polegi.

“A water park in the Gallagher Centre and spray parks located throughout the city are a great way for kids to cool down and have some fun,” she said.

“With all the amenities Yorkton has to offer, it can serve as a base for tourists who wish to explore the nearby lakes or who wish to take day trips to our neighbouring communities to visit their local attractions,” said Polegi.

“Tourism is incredibly important to Yorkton,” said Kienle. “It supports local businesses, fills our hotels, and helps fuel community pride. Whether it’s sports tourism, festivals, trade shows or family travel, visitors bring energy to our city and help tell Yorkton’s story far and wide.”

Again Kitzan concurred.

“Tourism is incredibly important to our local economy—it not only supports our businesses but also fosters a strong sense of community identity,” she said. “Events like these bring people together, spark new connections, and highlight everything that makes Yorkton a great place to visit and invest in.”

Noting it is “our region’s largest summer fair,” Kitzan said the event offers much “from the midway and grandstand shows to 4-H showcases and fireworks, it’s a classic family tradition.”

Kienle concluded with an invitation to all.

“Lastly, I’d encourage visitors to explore our beautiful neighbourhood parks and walking paths, stop by the Western Development Museum, book a tour of the historic Brick Flour Mill building, and swing into the Yorkton Tourism office to discover even more things to see and do. Yorkton is a welcoming, vibrant place with a deep history and a promising future,” he said.

Birding Opportunities

Birdwatching is a favoured activity of many on vacation and the Yorkton area is a wonderful spot with many excellent locations to discover.

For those wanting to search out local species, the Yorkton Tourism Centre has copies of Bird Watcher’s Paradise, a special trifold brochure showcasing all the birding opportunities in the area. The brochure includes a map with directions to accessing these areas. Spectacular birding opportunities are waiting to be discovered. The Yellowhead Flyway Nature Society works to promote awareness of the importance of preserving and protecting spaces for wildlife and humans to co-exist. The society has taken on a project of bringing awareness of the beauty and preserving the wildlife habitat that is part of the road allowance system in the area. With cooperation of four local municipalities the Road Allowance Project has signage on country roads that are excellent wildlife habitat and safe places for everyone to walk, bike and bird. YFBTA.com has information about and the GPS coordinates of all these protected spaces.

Community pARTners Gallery

The Yorkton Arts Council, in Partnership with the Yorkton Public Library, presents a series of visual exhibitions at the Community pARTners Gallery located in the Yorkton Public Library.

and magical beings as the artist believes them to be. Each rendition of fantastical creature has not been defined as real; the artist chose a variety of mediums to show their vast artistic ability. The artist is Yorkton's, Aulaura Worthington's and this is her first solo exhibition.

Walking Trails

While Yorkton has long been known for its excellent walking tours, the city is also expanding a vibrant and accessible network of pathways perfect for walking, biking, running, and inline skating.

"The City of Yorkton pathways provide people an opportunity to go for a walk, bike, or roll in a place where they don't have to compete for space with cars," said Taylor Morrison, Director of Recreation & Community Services with the City of Yorkton. "They also support no-cost, or low-cost activities, as there is no special equipment needed, no fees, or schedule to restrict someone from being active and getting out in nature."

The City has remained committed to expanding these pathways, with approximately 5.5 kilometres of paved and gravel routes currently available in various locations across Yorkton. The long-term goal is to create a fully connected network that links neighbourhoods, parcs, and public spaces, something that benefits both residents and visitors.

"As someone who cycles, skateboards, runs, and just loves being outside, I can say firsthand how powerful these spaces are," said Mayor Aaron Kienle. "Our trails aren't just about exercise, they're about balance. Getting out for a ride or walk can clear your head, lift your mood, and give you that reset we all need. They promote mental wellness just as much as physical activity, while also encouraging a more sustainable, healthy lifestyle for everyone in our community."

Randy Goulden, manager with Tourism Yorkton, added: "Increasingly, people on holidays want to stay active. Our pathways are a great way to take a look around our city, passing through some beautiful parks and natural areas." Whether it's a solid run or a leisurely walk, there's something for everyone to enjoy.

The Yorkton Film Festival, celebrating 79 years, has had a reputation and a long history for providing one of the premier events for filmmakers and film enthusiasts in Canada. Running from May 20 - 24, the festival is excited to celebrate Canadian cinema, as they have been since 1947.

YFF is the longest running film festival in North America and turns Yorkton into the film capital of North America - hosting an opening night screening on, lobsterfest, panel discussions, and programmed screenings. Screenings will highlight the best in Canadian films in their respective categories. The festival will conclude with the awarding of coveted Golden Sheaf Awards which will signify the best of the best for 2025.

The event kicks off on Wednesday, May 20, with a community screening centered on local interest stories. Attendees can also join daily scheduled screenings to meet filmmakers and their representatives or catch films at their convenience via YFF On-Demand at the Gallagher Centre. Additionally, screenings will be held at the Painted Hand Casino on Saturday afternoon. All screenings are open to the public at no cost!

Geocaching

If you like a good mystery and you want to go on a grand adventure, then geocaching might be just what you need to try.

In recent years the hobby of geocaching has been growing, and with that growth the opportunity to enjoy the activity while traveling.

Geocaching uses global positioning technology to help with what is essentially a modern take on a treasure hunt.

It's a case where other people hide things all over the place (outdoors generally), and then other people go out and find them using the GPS coordinates.

There are specialized GPS tracking units which can be used; Magellan and Garmin two of the best-known, but cellphones work too using various apps for iPhone and Android which link directly to the geocaching site.

The coordinates to the hidden spots are posting at www.geocaching.com, an Internet site which acts as a hub for sharing information with geocachers around the world. The site has thousands of caches to seek out around the world. There are some 40 in Yorkton and 500 in Regina as examples, and is free to sign up for.

Some caches are active year-round. Others, especially on the Canadian Prairies are hidden only through the warmer months.

In some cases there are connections to history with many caches related to old school yards, cemeteries and similar locations. Often information of the locales is included on the geocaching site.

While geocaching seems to be pretty widely based, there are some rules.

Caches are not supposed to be buried underground making access too hard, as an example.

Cachers also rarely post pictures of where a cache is located for fear it will make it easier to the next searcher to find.

After that it is pretty wide open. One internation-

Walking Tours

Taking in the history of the city is easy in Yorkton thanks to four walking tours. "It's a way to connect you with the past," said Taylor Morrison, Director of Recreation and Community Services with the City, adding they familiarize visitors with some of the history of Yorkton. "A person can observe details at close range, otherwise missed as you quickly walk or drive. Walking with a tour book in hand, or walking with a group makes it easy to stop and admire, for example, the gargoyles of the old Hudson's Bay store building. Plus, Walking Tours allow you to do this at your own pace," said Morrison. Visitors like the tours as a way to get to know the city better. There are two written heritage walking tours for downtown Yorkton: "Promise and Potential - Yorkton in the Early 1900's" and "Pioneers Ways and Bygone Days". Both are available online at www.yorkton.ca "Pioneer Ways and Bygone Days" is a close-up of the old town centre of Yorkton and is available for $10.00 at City Hall and the Western Development Museum.

Heritage Walking Tour

Often the history of a community can only be found in a dusty book and by looking at faded photos; but the history of Yorkton is alive and well in the form of a self-guided walking tour. The tour begins at the Godfrey Dean Cultural Centre on Smith Street and ends at 29 Myrtle Avenue. If you proceed at a leisurely pace, the walk will take about an hour and a half. For a brochure on the tour, contact Tourism Yorkton by at 783-8707. The City also has a video walking tour - "Broadway and Back" - which can be taken on your smartphone. There is more information about it at this link: <http://www.yorkton.ca/history/>

City Cemetery Walking Tour

A self-guided walking tour of the City of Yorkton Cemetery gives visitors a chance to experience the unique history of the area. It guides visitors along the pathways of this beautifully treed 10.5 acres. The book, containing 28 grave sites can be purchased for $3.00 at City Hall. The complete tour will take about one hour and a half, but can be shortened to the individual's liking. Stroll at your leisure, as you follow the trail outlined on the book's map. There

Skateboard Park

Yorkton boasts one of the premier outdoor skateboard parks in the province. It is an ideal place to show off skills in a sport with a growing base and increased recognition of what it takes to be great at the activity. The park, situated right off Broadway Street, is part of the Brodie Recreation Corridor which includes a paved walking path, and connects with the Patrick Park Disc Golf Course, Winchester Pathway, and Silver Heights Park as you make your way south from the Skate Park. The park is concrete and includes a range of jump elements which are sure to be both a challenge and a thrill for users. Skaters planning a holiday in the city, or just passing through, will want to make sure to check it out.

Disc Golf

Yorkton has become a destination hub for those interested in the sport of disc golf.

“We truly are fortunate in this area to have a number of excellent courses within an easy 90-minute drive of Yorkton,” offered Trevor Lyons a spokesperson with the Parkland Association of Disc Golf.

The 90-minute drive radius also happens to be the area the PADG serves, promoting the sport to local authorities, organizing tournaments and helping the sport grow.

“It seemed a reasonable area to represent when the Association was organized. Yorkton sort of acts as a hub and the courses we try to promote are great for day trips. You can get out, play, and be back for supper, and still tackle some fun courses,” said Calvin Daniels, founding, and now past president with the PADG.

For tourists it’s a great situation. They can stop in Yorkton and take on the local courses, then stay over and explore the region’s courses.

“Here in Yorkton we are really fortunate,” said Lyons. “The original nine basket course at Patrick Park is beautifully treed, which creates challenges, but is also very beginner friendly.

“The second nine added most recently at Rodney Ridge has lots of fluctuating topography, so it plays very differently and is more of a work out just walking to course.”

Golfers can also take on the alternate tees at Patrick Park for a greater challenge too.

From there you can head out of the City on most of the highways and explore courses in every direction.

“It really doesn’t matter which way, there are generally some fine courses just down the pavement,” said Lyons, who along with Daniels had his hand in designing several of the courses.

So what courses should disc golfers head to from Yorkton?

“Over time play them all,” suggested Lyons adding, “there really are some fun features on any course you find.”

If you head east on Highway #16 there are courses every few miles.

“Bredenbury has a really nice course. It’s a tonal course, not baskets, but has some real challenges including a tunnel shot off the first tee, and it's a bit different as a 12 rather than the usual nine or 18 (target) course," said Daniels.

"Churchbridge is a 12 basket course that has lots of trees, and a tunnel shot off tee three," added Lyons.

Then just south of Yorkton there is a course at Carlton Trail Regional Park.

"If you want a little longer drive cross the border and check out the great course at Asessippi Beach and Campground north of Russell too. It really is a gem of a course," said Daniels.

If you head west on #16 there is a short, but treed 18 hidden away in a park in the northwest corner of Springside, and a bit farther along #16 there is a long 18 at Whitesand Regional Park near Theodore.

Highway #9 North will lead disc golfers to a range of courses.

Around Good Spirit Lake are courses at the provincial park, at Burgis Beach and at Sandy Beach.

"It's a pretty nice mini-tour around the lake," said Lyons.

Another turn and you can connect to a fun course at Benito, Man., then at Duck Mountain Provincial Park.

"And don't forget Kamsack, that is one of the best courses in terms of the variety of shots needed," said Daniels, adding, "the tunnel shot in number nine is a bear."

Another option is a bit of a swing west to hit a new course in Sturgis, or find your way to Kelvington to take on that basket course.

Finally, there are options south from Yorkton too.

"There is a very challenging course on cross country ski trails near Rocanville," said Lyons.

"The course at Stockholm is a personal favourite," added Daniels.

Then there is an 18 basket course at Melville.

"The course really is a fine one with lots of trees and a variety of shots needed," said Lyons.

A bit farther south you can access courses in Balcarres, Lemberg, and Fort Qu'Appelle.

"So make sure to book a few days to stay in Yorkton, pack your golf discs and explore the courses. We really think we have the best in the province in the east central area," said Lyons.

Motocross Racing

Few sport events are more thrilling than motocross. In Yorkton, that means a trip to the Millstone Park Raceway which has been operated by the Yorkton Motorcycle Club since 1995. Named the Sask Motocross Track of the Year multiple times, the raceway is located two km north of Yorkton on the #9 highway next to Millstone Park, the original site of Yorkton. The track is open daily for riders of all ages and abilities to sharpen racing and off-road handling skills. Daily and yearly riding passes are available for non-members Monday to Saturday at Schrader Motors during normal business hours. Parental accompaniment is required for riders under 18 years of age. A smaller, entry-level track is available for beginning riders plus group and private lessons are offered by some of the club's experienced members (check the Facebook page for details).

"One of the very unique things about motocross is that racers of all ages, genders and abilities compete on the same day on the same track," said local sport spokesperson Rick Bradshaw. "With so many different classes to group riders by ability and ages, there are very few if any sports where an entire family compete on the same day. New spectators are often surprised by the ability of a rider only to discover they are a 12-year-old girl then watch as two 50-year-old men bang bars and battle back and forth with the stamina of men half their ages. Watching a couple of the top professional racers in the country battle for a win then congratulate each other after 20-minutes of competition shows the sportsmanship that motocross racers have. And everyone holds their breath when up to 40 riders charge into the first turn together after a gate drop!"

Fans love the track too! "Yorkton's Millstone Raceway facility is great for spectator access as they can walk around the fenced inside of over half of the race track and see the action from a variety of viewpoints," said Bradshaw. "With the area being located next to the highway access is great. Plus, the club always does one of the best race preparation jobs in the province so the track is well watered and groomed for awesome race action. New spectators love the high jumps and bumps. All enthusiasts enjoy the close racing action and many come to realize the great skill it takes to make a lap let alone multiple laps at racing speed."

Logan Green Trout Pond

If you want a leisurely time tossing a few hooks in the hopes of enticing a trout to take a bite, then head over to the Logan Green Trout Pond in Yorkton, located off of Queen Street/ Highway 10, on the south end of the city. The area has been developed as a fish pond, in cooperation with the Saskatchewan Wildlife Federation to create new fisheries in urban areas. The habitat development included riffles in the stream, areas of stone which create pool areas, and help aerate water as it passes over the riffle area. The City of Yorkton along with local and provincial Wildlife Federations, and the Assiniboine Watershed Stewardship Association stocked the pond regularly. Rainbow Trout were the fish of choice to be best suited for this habitat. The pond is catch and release, with signage on-site detailing specific rules.

The Yorkton Brick Mill

Yorkton's famous 'Brick Mill' is increasingly becoming a 'must visit' location for tourists. Mill tours conducted from May 19th to August 30 or by special appointment.

Contact: admin@yorktonflourmill.ca

Come and see Saskatchewan's OLDEST Flour mill.

The old mill is naturally an ideal spot for some 'I was in Yorkton' holiday photos at any anytime, and throughout the year there are events to watch for tied to the heritage site.

For example, on Sat., Aug. 8th, The Yorkton Brick Mill Heritage Society will hold its 'Rally Round the Mill' event. Road Rally, Pancake Brunch, Entertainment, Vintage Car & Ag show, BBQ Burgers and Kiddies activities. The Brick Mill Heritage dinner is scheduled for Sept. 30, 2026.

Bread and soup sales will be offered throughout the summer, watch for details.

Downtown CultureFest now a June tradition

Downtown CultureFest has become a weekly event through June which local Yorkton residents and visitors look forward too.

“It’s one of the few opportunities where people can come together in City Centre Park to enjoy live entertainment, try different foods, experience different cultures, and support local vendors, all in one place. It creates a really inclusive and energetic atmosphere,” offered Kaitlyn Kitzan executive director with the Yorkton Business Improvement District (YBID).

CultureFest will be celebrating its fifth year in 2026. It was previously known as June Days, and last year we rebranded it to Downtown CultureFest to better reflect the event.

Kitzan said the popularity of the event is great to see, adding in some ways it is a surprise.

“Last year was my first year involved, and I was genuinely surprised by how full City Centre Park was each week,” she said. “It really showed the community’s appetite for events like this.”

While a great event to bring the community together Downtown CultureFest directly supports YBID’s mandate by driving foot traffic into the downtown, supporting local businesses, and creating a vibrant, welcoming atmosphere.

“It encourages people to spend time in the district, shopping, dining, and experiencing everything downtown Yorkton has to offer,” said Kitzan.

The format will be very similar for 2026. Downtown CultureFest will run every Thursday in June from 4:30–7:30 PM at City Centre Park.

Confirmed dates and cultures are:

June 4 – Indigenous

June 11 – Ukrainian

June 18 – Indian & Filipino

June 25 – Jamaican

“We’d encourage everyone to come downtown and shop, eat, and explore everything the YBID district has to offer,” said Kitzan. “There’s always something happening, and CultureFest is a great starting point to experience the community.”
