Supporting the Culture of Tea One Cup at a Time.

We specialize in premium and quality loose teas for leisure tea, health benefits, cooking or you're special blends. In other words, we're not your standard online supplier for loose tea.

Our teas are sourced direct from farmers, seasonally, local and abroad.

You will find that our products at local cafes, restaurants, hotels and retail spaces.

Our journey commenced long before the term “COVID” permeated our daily lives. Across generations, my family upheld the ancient traditions of cultivating fine teas and herbs, deeply rooted in a lifestyle of harmony with the earth and its bounties. In the era preceding COVID-19's prominence, our founder sought solace and remedy in the age-old wisdom of tea, unknowingly addressing symptoms later associated with the virus. This personal voyage towards wellness ignited a mission: to educate, extend the transformative virtues of tea to local communities, and empowering individuals to embrace holistic well-being.

As a family-inspired, veteran-owned, and operated company, Eristea is led by a family team - the back bone of our founders efforts.

Our roots trace back to a passionate Caribbean family where tea is not just a beverage but a remedy for every occasion and mood. It was over cups of tea that our founder, decided to embark on this tea-centric venture.

Deepening our commitment to quality and sustainability, we are currently expanding our own farm, working with local farm partnerships, and farmers abroad for specialized tea options based on region. By sourcing and growing tea and plants, we aim to be a resource for communities seeking alternatives and fostering a deeper connection to nature.

LOOSE TEA

Loose-leaf tea offers superior flavor, aroma, and quality because it uses whole leaves that fully expand during brewing, releasing more natural oils and nutrients. It also allows better control over strength and steeping, supports multiple infusions, and reduces packaging waste compared to tea bags, which often contain low-grade tea dust and microplastics. Though less convenient, loose-leaf tea provides a fresher, more sustainable, and premium experience—ideal for anyone seeking a richer, more authentic cup.

Eristea is a wellness-forward tea brand that provides high-quality, sustainably grown loose-leaf teas that delight the senses and support overall well-being. Committed to education and community, Eristea creates experiences, connecting people to plants' healing power and the cultural roots of tea traditions.

We love to host tea tastings, pop-up experiences, and educational workshops that invite guests to explore the art and culture of tea. These events offer an opportunity to sample our signature blends, learn proper brewing techniques, and discover the health benefits of loose-leaf teas. Whether at local markets, community spaces, or private gatherings, our workshops create a welcoming environment for tea lovers and newcomers alike to connect, sip, and learn together.
