DUBAI

WEATHER + WHAT TO WEAR

Dubai's scorching Summer Season ends in August; we will visit during their Fall Season when the temperature cools. But remember that Dubai is in the middle of the Arabian Desert, and temperatures can still be relatively high even in late September. Nevertheless, there's no need to worry about it. I'll ensure you won't be exposed to the heat during the hottest parts of the day, especially for outdoor activities such as the Hot White Yacht Experience and the Desert Safari. These activities will occur late afternoon, evening, or night when temperatures cool. Additionally, all transportation to and from various venues will be in air-conditioned vehicles to provide maximum comfort.

Generally, it's best to dress as you would for a Summer day in July in most parts of the United States. But please be mindful that wearing clothing that is too tight or revealing in public is considered inappropriate for both women and men. However, the dress code is more relaxed in hotels and clubs.
