

Your Mountain Preserves Need You!

Our mountain preserves are always under threat! They can't speak, but we can use our voices on their behalf.

We fight the battles needed to keep these natural places intact so YOU can experience all of your favorite outdoor recreational activities in the Phoenix Mountains Preserve!

The PMPC has spent over 50 years protecting the preserves. We need those as passionate and concerned as you are to join us!

About the PMPC

We are dedicated to preserving select desert areas to ensure that natural open space remains in our greater city area.

These preserves guarantee that our way of life remains connected to nature and a fascinating, yet delicate, environment is kept easily available to all our citizens.

PMPC's Mission

Identifying, evaluating, and monitoring issues that relate to the acquisition and maintenance of the preserves.

Providing grassroots support and public advocacy for efforts to maintain and enhance the preserves.

Developing partnerships with related organizations with similar goals.

Increasing the preserves with lands yet to be acquired.

Educating visitors to the preserves on trail etiquette, native plants, invasive plants, animals, and history of the area.

Reasons you should join us

Learn more about threats to our beautiful preserves. Take that information and share it with your friends, family, and neighbors. The more awareness there is, the more we are able to make positive change in and around the preserves.

Support open spaces in Phoenix by getting involved at city meetings. Discussing the issues important to the preserves ensures our elected leaders and committee members know how important this topic is to you and the future of Phoenix.

Share what you know about what's going on in and around the preserves. The PMPC has connections all over the city and may be able to help with your issue.

Learn more about the Sonoran Desert and how to protect native flora and fauna. Sharing this knowledge with visitors to the preserves will make a positive impact for generations to come.

Meet others like you - those that love to hike, those that love the preserves, and those who give their energy to something bigger than themselves.
