Some of Empower 54's Activities

Maternal Newborn and Child Health (MNCH) Program

Over 1 million lives impacted

In our relentless pursuit of better health and well-being, we've reached a significant milestone, distributing over 1 million doses of Albendazole deworming medication and essential prenatal vitamins to women and children in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) and the Federal Republic of Nigeria.

By focusing on maternal and child health and ensuring access to vital nutrients, we aim to preempt lifelong health challenges in babies, including those stemming from inadequate placental development.

These interventions form the cornerstone of our commitment to enhancing maternal and child health outcomes, empowering families, and nurturing resilient communities across the regions we serve.

Medical Missions

Thousands of beneficiaries since 2003

Limited access to specialized medical care and the inability to afford treatment are significant contributors to the high mortality rates in Africa.

Many of the health challenges faced by communities can be effectively addressed with simple interventions such as over-the-counter medications, providing reading glasses to prevent blindness, or performing surgical procedures.

To enhance the quality of life for our targeted beneficiaries, dedicated medical professionals generously volunteer their time and expertise to provide life-changing medical services at no cost to those in need.

By offering these essential healthcare services, we strive to alleviate suffering, improve health outcomes, and empower individuals to lead healthier, more fulfilling lives.

Women Empowerment

Hundreds of households elevated from poverty

The imperative to empower the expanding female demographic cannot be overstated, as their upliftment correlates directly with the reduction of poverty, illiteracy, health crises, and unemployment.

Through our women empowerment program, we not only elevate small-scale entrepreneurs but also extend crucial resources to internally displaced persons (IDPs) from northeast Nigeria, thereby fostering resilience and enabling sustainable progress within marginalized communities.

History has repeatedly shown that when women are given access to revenue generating resources, they can overcome poverty and improve the lives of generations.

They not only improve their households, but they also create employment opportunities within their communities.

Donation of Medication and Non-Perishable Foods

Over 5,000 communities impacted

In Africa, a staggering number of children and adults perish due to the consumption of substandard drugs or the inability to afford essential medications.

To combat this alarming mortality rate, we are committed to providing free medication to those in dire need who cannot afford it.

Our approach involves procuring and distributing a diverse array of over-the-counter medications and non-perishable foods to remote communities in the African countries where we operate.

Through these efforts, we aim to alleviate suffering, save lives, and foster healthier, more resilient communities across the continent.
